Road Crews Are Kept Busy

First Snow Piles Up Woes For City And The District

Motorists found the going rough in spots, road crews got their first real workout of the season and many children enjoyed sledding as East Liverpool and the area experienced a fall ranging from two to six inches of snow over the weekend.

The forecast calls for fair tonight and colder and partly cloudy and a little warmer Tuesday. It contains no mention of additional snow during the period, however.

TEMPERATURES will average near normal to slightly above normal through Saturday, with highs in the mid 30s to the low 40s and lows in the mid 20s to low 30s, the weatherman says.

Warmer weather around the middle of the week will turn cooler by the weekend.

East Liverpool street department crews have been working on snow removal and control since 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Two crews were called out yesterday morning. A third was added later and then two more crews were called to duty, so that five were on the job by Sunday night.

Some of the crews worked throughout the night. Snowplows were used last night, particularly in clearing secondary streets, and ashes will be spread on some of the streets today.

Major thoroughfares were termed "in generally good condition" this morning by Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey. But more snow squalls helped keep the crews busy.

THE DIRECTOR called attention to a standing directive against shoving snow onto streets from parking lots, used car lots, service station areas and other large tracts.

Such practices impede parking and traffic for other drivers, he pointed out. The operators of such enterprises should mound the snow on their own premises or have it hauled away, but not shove it onto

Senate Hearing Scheduled On Credit Reporting Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The organizations that often determine what persons are considered reliable enough to receive credit are coming under congressional scrutiny this week.

A Senate antitrust monopoly subcommittee under Michigan Democrat Philip A. Hart will hold hearings Tuesday and Wednesday into the possible need for legislation to protect the public in its dealing with the businesses who report on credit.

Among those to testify are three persons who volunteered to tell their claims of misdealings by credit reporting firms and officials of three of the largest credit reporting companies.

Rating Important

The importance of a person's credit ratings has grown in recent years with the bounding use of charge accounts. Many businesses rely on reports from various credit reporting firms, not only for an indication whether to provide charge accounts but to determine whether a prospective employe is reliable enough to be hired.

The scope of the hearings will include claims of careless reporting, technical and vengeful mistakes, conflicts of interest and the increasing concentration among the credit reporting companies.

On the basis of the subcommittee staff's preliminary findings released last spring, the senators will hear such claims as:

—Bad credit can result from confusion over similar or identical names.

—One mas was unable to get a job because a former employer had furnished a reporting agency with false information. The man successfully sued his former boss.

—In more than two-thirds of the country's biggest cities, a

President-Elect, Shriver Talk

Laird Will Head Defense, According To Nixon Aide

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon, who has indicated he will seek early meetings with Western European leaders, has added fuel to the active rumor mill here by conferring nearly two hours with R. Sargent Shriver, ambassador to France.

Meanwhile, the Milwaukee Sentinel said a Nixon aide in Washington confirmed that Rep. Melvin R. Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference, had agreed to become secretary of defense.

The unidentified aide said Nixon's choice of the Wisconsin congressman was a certainty, the Sentinel reported.

"The only thing that could go wrong would be if he (Nixon) changes his mind at the last minute, and he won't," the aide was quoted as saying.

Laird was not available for comment.

Shriver said he flew to New York from Washington Sunday at Nixon's request to "bring him up to date about things in France."

The brother-in-law of Sen. Edward M., Kennedy, D-Mass., indicated he and Nixon didn't discuss a possible Cabinet appointment for Shriver nor even the possibility of his continuing as

Big Sweep Concluded By Marines

North Viet Losses May Reach 1,000 After Final Count

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Marines closed out their massive cordon operation south of Da Nang today with another flurry of stiff bunker fighting. At least 862 North Vietnamese soldiers were claimed killed in the 20-day campaign.

Some field reports were still missing, and some senior officers estimated the total enemy losses may approach 1,000 when the final count is made. A hundred North Vietnamese troops were taken prisoner.

Casualties Listed

Marine casualties for the entire operation, called Meade River, were 95 killed and 504 wounded. Nearly half of the U.S. and enemy casualties were taken in the last five days as the Leathernecks' encirclement shrank to less than a square mile.

Staff officers said preliminary intelligence indicated that major portions of four battalions of the North Vietnamese Army's 38th Regiment had been trapped in the cordon following an enemy attack on the district town of Dien Ban, 15 miles south of Da Nang.

As the Marines were being pulled out for operations elsewhere, there was still light sniper fire and some mortaring from their rear, showing that swept territory had already been infiltrated again by at least token enemy forces.

Operation Successful

The cordon operation was the largest ever conducted by the Marines in Vietnam and their most successful.

It began Nov. 20 within nearly 7,000 U.S. and Korean Marines and Vietnamese infantrymen placed in position in half a day, mainly by helicopter. The area inside the cordon at the outset was approximately 50 square miles.

Government officials evacuated 2,600 peasants and later returned them to their homes after screening them in an effort to trap Viet Cong political officials and agents. Some 73 of these were seized.

The final fighting Sunday and today involved five Marine companies and Vietnamese in 10 armored personnel carriers mopping up enemy soldiers dug into bunkers at the edge of a muddy river. A spokesman said one Marine company had worked into the bunkers before being hit with heavy enemy fire Sunday

Graduates As Marine After 4 Tries

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Younger men than Carl E. Herring join the U.S. Marines. But few are so persistent.

After 11 years and four tries he graduates from boot camp today.

"I never dreamed of any other life," says Herring, now 28, who wants to be a drill instructor.

In Temple, Tex., Herring quit school after the sixth grade at 10 years old and worked in a variety store, then in a Dallas cafe until his 17th birthday arrived and he could enlist.

His determination started to get a real test. On a Marine obstacle course Herring broke his knee and was sent home with a medical discharge. He paid for corrective surgery, then flooded the Corps with letters asking for a medical waiver to get back in.

The Marines said yes, on condition Herring pass its physical requirements. In June he re-enlisted. He broke his arm July 7. On July 28, the day the cast came off, he was washed out of boot camp again, a victim of meningitis.

After three weeks in a hospital, he was back beginning boot camp the fourth time.

"The training is getting easier over the years—a little too easy, I think," says Herring.

The leader of his 70-man platoon, Staff Sgt. Howard Garcia, was a recruit along with Herring in the same company at the San Diego Marine Corps Recruit Depot in 1957.

Since his first enlistment Herring has married and is the father of two girls.

In Albuquerque, N.M., his wife Mitsy, 24, lives with her parents and attends beauty school. Does she understand why Herring fights so doggedly to become a Leatherneck? Carl said, "Maybe not, but she wants me to do what I want."

And what Carl Herring wants is to be a Marine.

Team Opens Quiz In School Dispute

An investigating team of educators headed by Harold Sebold, executive director of the Ohio Association of School Administrators at Columbus, has begun a probe into the faculty controversy in the East Liverpool school system.

Serving with Sebold are Harold Myers of the Ohio High School Athletic Association, Robert Baker of the Ohio School Boards Association and Gilbert Johnson, superintendent of schools at Whitehall.

William Oliver, district representative of the Ohio Education Association, is not serving on the investigating team, but is expected to testify.

THE GROUP has set up headquarters in a downtown office and will conduct consultations there.

Meanwhile, the study by the Professional Rights and Responsibilities Commission of the OEA, which was requested by the East Liverpool Teachers Association, will not begin until after this first study is completed.

The ELTA has asked a study of "antagonism among certified school personnel, the administrative heads, the school board, the public and the students.

Commission Chairman Robert Dowling of Alliance said the OEA study team will be named within the next two weeks.

Samuel W. Brown, president of the board of education, questioned about his opinion relative to the OEA Proefssional Rights and Responsibilities Committee study, said:

"I HAVE been asked to comment on the article appearing in the East Liverpool Review Friday. The board of education, per se, was not aware of the news release until each member would have read it. As Will Rogers once said, "All I know is what I read in the paper."

Paris Peace Negotiators Set Strategy

U.S. Hopes Talks Can Be Launched By This Weekend

PARIS (AP) — A spokesman for North Vietnam's delegation to the Paris peace talks lashed at South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky today, calling him "a puppet, a servant of the United States and a devotee of Hitler."

It was a forerunner of many charges and countercharges expected as the Vietnamese rivals maneuver toward the enlarged peace talks.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese teams set up a strategy sessions later in the day with Ambassadors W. Averell Harriman and Cyrus R. Vance on the American side and Pham Dang Lam and Bui Diem, the ambassador to Washington, on Saigon's side.

The North Vietnamese blast at Ky came from Hanoi delegation spokesman Bui Nhan and referred to past remarks Ky had made about Hitler in South Vietnam.

Ky denied at the time that he was voicing any admiration for the former Nazi dictator. And in the course of his exuberant arrival here Sunday the jaunty former combat pilot repeatedly stressed he was no puppet of Uncle Sam.

No Date Set

The opening date of the expanded peace talks is still in doubt pending the outcome of another diplomatic dialogue between the United States and North Vietnam.

The shape of the table for the negotiations—of symbolic importance to the South Vietnamese and their rivals, the National Liberation Front—remained at issue after a week of private U.S.-North Vietnamese exchanges had threshed out other details for the first meeting of the delegations.

The Communists demand a square table to match their argument that this will be a four-sided conference in which the Viet Cong's NLF delegation has separate, equal status with the other three.

Ky re-emphasized on his arrival the Saigon-Washington view of the parley as two sided —between the allies and the Communists. He refused to even speak of the NLF, which his government regards as an outlaw group. So the United States has proposed two long tables facing each other.

U.S. diplomats said they were keeping in touch with the North night. In the darkness, groups of three and four North Vietnamese probed along the Leatherneck lines trying to escape.

Attack Started

This morning, the Marines attacked again, dropping grenades into bunkers while the Vietnamese armored troops fired recoilless rifles mounted on the personnel carriers.

In a last spring, the Marines covered a final, small rectangle 200 yards wide and 100 yards deep. The toll for the last battle was 91 enemy soldiers slain, 16 Marines killed and 37 wounded, and light casualties among the government troops.

One North Vietnamese popped out of a bunker pleading to be taken prisoner. A young Marine rushed forward. The North Vietnamese shot the American in the head and killed him. Other Marines finished off the North Vietnamese.

Another Marine leaned against a dead tree and it collapsed. Inside the hollow trunk was a North Vietnamese warrant officer who surrendered, saying he was a communications officer.

"We gave them the coup de grace this morning," said Lt. Col. J. W. Peton Robertson, 42, of Prince William County, Va., the commander of the 26th Marine Regiment's 3rd Battalion.

The operation was launched after intelligence reports placed as many as 1,000 North Vietnamese troops plus scores of Communist political agents in hamlets and villages dotting the area. It is in effect a spoiling action aimed at countering military and political threats to the lowlands, particularly Dien Ban, a key district town; Hoi An, a provincial capital, and Da Nang itself, South Vietnam's second largest city.

Allied Efforts Increased

Allied troops have stepped up their efforts to crush the emerging Communist political apparatus. The South Vietnamese arm of North Vietnam's Communist party is known to be creating a grass-roots government across South Vietnam, apparently in anticipation of an end to the war. American intelligence has confirmed that this quasi-government already exists throughout five provinces and in more than 1,000 villages and hamlets.

U.S. headquarters said that American infantrymen sweeping attack routes north and south of Saigon turned up two more big stores of war supplies. They included 40 bicycles, which the Viet Cong use to transport war materials; nearly 2,000 rounds of mortar, recoilless rifle and rocket grenade ammunition, and 80,000 rounds of small arms ammunition.

The U.S. Command also announced the loss of another photo reconnaissance plane over North Vietnam and the start of a naval blockade operation aimed at strangling major Communist supply lines from Cambodia that could support an attack on Saigon.

The Air Force photo Phantom was shot down today by antiaircraft fire about 55 miles above the demilitarized zone. It went down about four miles off the coast, and the two crewmen were pulled from the Gulf of Tonkin by helicopter.

It was the fourth American plane shot down over North Vietnam since President Johnson ordered the bombing halted on Nov. 1, and the 919th lost over the North during the war. In the three previous losses since the bombing halt, all six crewmen were reported missing. Radio Hanoi announced that three had been captured.

A U.S. military spokesman said the naval blockade operation is part of the strategy of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, to make it impossible for the enemy command to launch a sizable attack on Saigon.

A Navy spokesman said more than 40 patrol boats "have moved into a Y-shaped complex of narrow, meandering rivers within 15 miles of Saigon for the first time to interdict enemy movement across the western approaches to South Vietnam's capital city."

Talks

Talks 5 Weeks Behind

The conference already has been held up five weeks beyond the opening date envisioned in President Johnson's Oct. 31 bomb-halt package. The first delay resulted from Saigon's boycott of the talks.

"I have come with all my good will to search for peace," Ky told a banner-waving crowd of some 250 greeters at Orly Airport from the Vietnamese community in Paris, plus officials and newsmen.

"I have come with the hope that the aggression from North Vietnam will soon be brought to an end," he said.

"We will not demand that those on the other side surrender. . . I don't expect that we will surrender."

The 38-year-old former combat pilot did more talking at the airport after he conferred for an hour with Harriman, and his deputy, Cyrus R. Vance. But he offered no specifics on just what South Vietnam would propose at the conference.

Ky Not Satisfied

He said he was "not quite" satisfied with the way negotiations have gone so far, and he hinted he might come up with a new proposal after he studies the situation for a few days.

Police precautions on a scale matching those usually given President Charles de Gaulle kept tight security around the airport. And the protocol—conscious French squelched South Vietnamese plans for a rally much larger than that allowed when the NLF delegation arrived last month.

Another Fling At Self-Regulation

A code drawn up by the Motion Picture Association of America to rate films according to the nature of audiences they are designed for went into effect Nov. 2.

Attempts at self-regulation and censorship are nothing new in the movie industry. On March 31, 1930, the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., released a Code to Govern the Making of Motion and Talking pictures that said in part:

STIFF OBJECTIONS to early off-color or suggestive movies from within or outside the industry made them box office hits.

Obviously some people in Hollywood have become interested in widespread public reaction to the nature of many movies being shown in theaters and drive ins all over America.

Movie advertising from companies cooperating will contain one of four designations: "G," which means the picture is suggested for a general audience; "M" suggested for mature audithe parents as the guide of the family's conduct" is met.

Loud screams about the quality of movies coming out of Hollywood do not lessen parental responsibility in the matter.

NOT EVERY MOVIE is a Mary Poppins or The Sound of Music, the biggest film moneymakers in history, and it is up to parents to give proper guidance to their youngsters.

To parents who see nothing wrong with current film offerings or who don't care what their children see, the new code will have little meaning.

To the parents who exercise some control in the lives of their children and are concerned about what is shown to them in bigger-than-life-size doses, the code could be helpful.

ences; "R" restricted — persons under 16 not admitted unless accompanied by parent or adult guardian and "X," persons under 16 not admitted.

The intent of the new code is good but whether it will be effective still is in doubt.

Space Sleep

Sleeping in space seems to be somewhat difficult, at least for the Russian cosmonauts. A Russian scientist indicated this at a conference on space medicine held in Geneva, Switzerland.

The Soviet Union, he said, had experimented with the use of sleeping pills and electric shock to induce sleep but claimed that these were only ground tests.

American scientists believe, however, that the Russian spacemen have been provided with electrical equipment to help them sleep in the event of some disturbing element which would prevent them from going to sleep normally.

In commenting on the shock equipment, the Russian scientist said it was intended for use only on future flights of a year's duration or longer.

Year For Human Rights

Presentation of the Nobel Peace Prize to Rene Cassin of France Tuesday will be the weak highlight of the International Year for Human Rights sponsored by the United Nations General Assembly.

The Frenchman is a professor of international law and principal author of the U.N. Declaration of the Rights of Man. The awards being presented on the 20th anniversary of United Nations approval of the declaration.

SPEECHMAKING on progress in human rights will be limited at the ceremonies to be held in Oslo because the record of the past 20 years is not that impressive.

The United Nations charter is filled with references to human rights and fundamental freedoms but the eloquent prose amounts to nothing more than a statement in support of great moral principles.

The United Nations can no more enforce adherence to moral standards than it can enforce principles of peace.

For all the moral influence of the declaration and subsequent U.N. conventions, enjoyment of human rights is restricted, in one way or another, in every part of the globe.

Of the 15 principal U.N. conventions covering such topics as genocide, slavery, refugees and racial and educational discrimination, the United States has ratified two, Russia, four, Sweden, nine, France and Israel, seven, and South Africa, one.

If cultural heritage or government policies prevent U.N. member nations from subscribing to the principles of human rights outlined in the documents, isn't the whole process, including the designation of an international year, just so much wasted effort?

A CLUE TO THE function of the United Nations in this area is provided in the preamble to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights which explains that the documents sets "a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations." In other words, a high goal has been set.

Concepts of the declaration have been written into the constitutions of 43 states that have come into being since 1948.

No Winter Sport

Area motorists who had forgotten what crystalized precipitation can do to the friction between four tires and a road surface were reminded over the weekend, some unhappily.

It only takes a bit of snow to bring out the best—and the worst—in a driver, especially on the hills we have in our district. Judicious use of brakes, accelerator and gears, plus snow treads, a windshield scraper, anti-freeze and properly working equipment will save your inconvenience, a repair bill and some select epithets in the lower highway vernacular at the very least. For the very worst, we leave it to your imagination and your next of kin.

Looking Before Leaping

There are indications that this may be the case with the Nixon administration's handling of the security gap issue.

Associates of President-elect Nixon say that he plans a careful and thorough study of the situation which he described as a "gravely serious security gap" before pouring new billions of dollars into defense measures.

In the absence of a crisis situation or even a situation calling for a speedy strengthening of our armed might, the careful analytical approach to the problem makes sense. Any other course would be reckless.

In view of the present inflationary trend, the quick expenditure of additional huge sums for military hardware would be unwise. Our "catch up" program, if stretched out, should tend to rock our economic boat less than a "crash" buying program.

Mr. Nixon has said the United States should achieve "clear-cut military superiority" in the interest of future world peace. With world conditions as they are, this policy seems reasonable although regrettable.

His plan to achieve that goal methodically and intelligently is equally reasonable.

Giving The Devil His Due

It wouldn't surprise us to see the formation of a society dedicated to the preservation of smog.

Founders would use the research of Dr. F. W. Went of the University of Nevada's Desert Research Institute as the basis for their organization.

Dr. Went believes the hydrocarbons entering the atmosphere from exhaust pipes and smokestacks contribute to the formation of new deposits of carbon fuels.

His theory, as presented to the National Academy of Sciences, is that sunlight acting on hydrocarbons in the atmosphere breaks them down and causes them to settle to earth. Compressed with other organic materials over eons of time, hard coal and oil could result.

It is interesting to know that those evil hydrocarbons that foul our air and burn our eyes and lungs are not all bad and may have a greater role in the scheme of things than their contemporary status indicates.

We don't feel, however, this should start a bandwagon rolling for the preservation of our poor, mistreated smog.

The efforts to eradicate smog and its detrimental effects should move ahead at full steam.

Long before present coal and oil resources are exhausted, man will be using other forms of energy, so there really is no reason to get excited about a society for the prevention of cruelty to smog.

But let the record show that for one, brief shining moment, smog had its day—thanks to Dr. Went.

Driving Cancer To The Wall

Since five years must pass before a cancer case is considered cured, most of the recent claimed cures remain just that. But several different techniques have been used to effect what appears to be extremely promising results.

The latest treatment reported internationally was developed in Peru, where a young physician of that country injected himself with cancerous cells taken from the body of his stricken half-sister.

Dr. Alfonzo Cruzado, 34, gave his half-sister cancer-fighting antibodies which his body produced to repel the cancer cells he had injected in himself. Amazingly, one month later, his half-sister seems to be cured of cancer of the uterus.

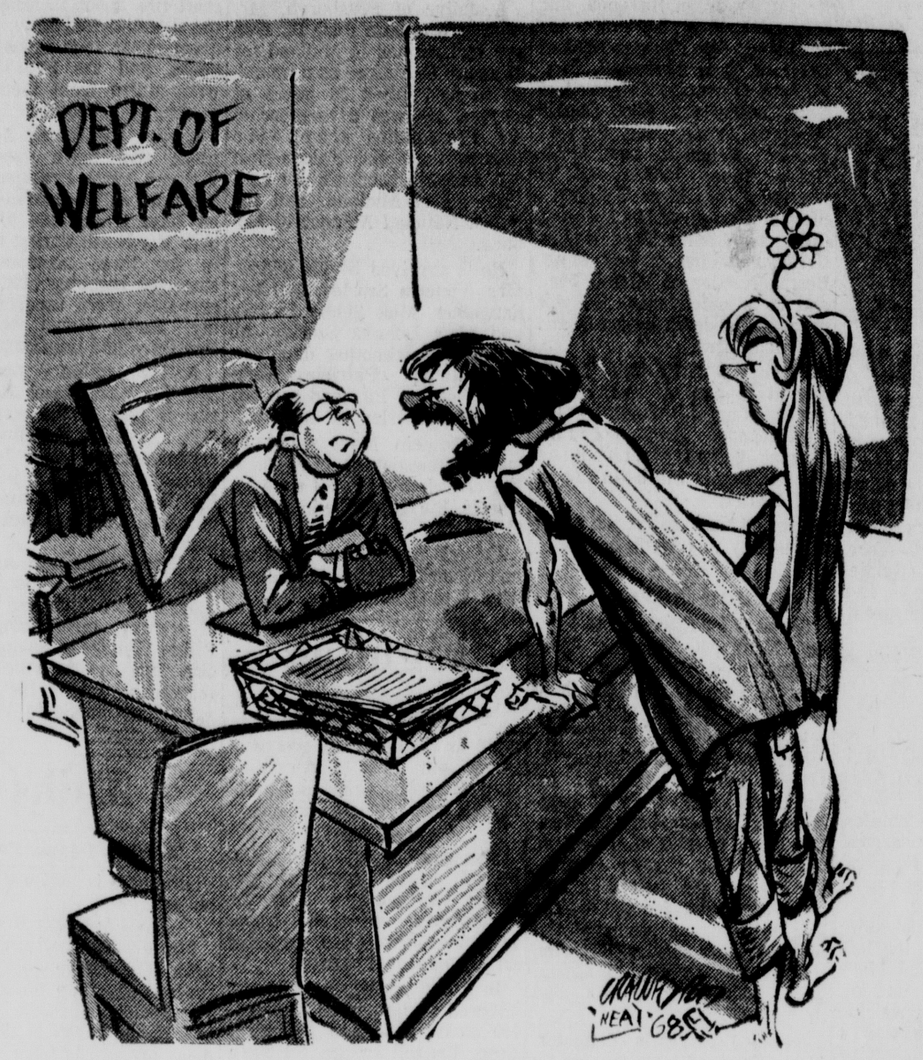

Peruvian medical authorities are cautious but very hopeful that the new technique, which is similar but not identical to experiments being conducted in the United States, will prove to be the ultimate answer to the plague of cancer.

What a magnificient achievement if current experimentation should make it possible for everyone to be immunized against cancer.

Defends Cafeterias

Although it is not my practice to dignify accusations and erroneous remarks by answering back, I feel that the continuing assaults and insults about the cafeterias in our schools need some kind of an answer.

As a cook in one of the cafeterias, I can say with full knowledge that we practice every sanitation procedure that is physically possible. We who work in the kitchens serve the children as if we were in our own homes, in fact some 99 per cent of us have two or more children of our own who eat in the cafeterias. We work hard and we are very proud of the fact that we do put out such good and nourishing complete meals for the children.

Our work isn't easy. It's heavy and hard work. But we do our work with love and with pride because we know we do our best. I hope the parents and children will realize that we are only human and even though we do try to do our best there will be times when everything doesn't turn out the exact way it is supposed to.

How many of you mothers turn out everything that you cook or bake perfect every time? Have you ever found a hair in anything you fixed at home? Well, you are one of the very fortunate if you haven't, or maybe your family or guests were too polite to tell you about it. Have you ever had cookies go too flat or meat get too done? It's very hard to be perfect, and not many of us can say that we are.

I certainly can't say it, but I can say that I will do my very best, along with the rest of my co-workers, to serve your children and mine as well as the good Lord has given me the ability to do. Please bear with us and know that we put through every effort to serve these children the best.

It seems to be easy to judge others when we should maybe look at ourselves first. Perhaps this is a little food for thought for many.

Warns Of Reds

How many of you know that there exists an American Communist Party?

We are told that the United States is in Vietnam, as we were in Korea, to suppress communist aggression. Yet in our own tri-state area there exists a building with a hammer and sickle on a sign in front with the words "American Communist Party."

Many Americans in this area, as in the rest of the United States, have felt the Korean and Vietnam conflicts in one way or another, whether directly or indirectly. It was done so fighting Communism.

The Constitution of the United States begins as follows:

"We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty, to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

This is the foundation of our government and why Americans are dying and being maimed for life, as we have done in the past. This is why we are fighting communist aggression.

The concept of Communism is this—specifically and currently, it refers to the doctrines underlying the revolutionary movement which aims to abolish capitalism.

As a veteran of the Army and the Vietnam conflict, where I served in the infantry, I've seen the wrath that Communism brings upon the military and civilians alike.

Communism starts by internal strife and disorders. Many of the riots and boycottings are communist-inspired, as many of you suspect.

These are prime examples of work that the American Communist Party is dedicated to.

If something is not done about this, Americans are dying in vain. I, for one, will not let this happen. But I alone cannot stop it.

'Thank-You' Note

Words cannot adequately express the gratitude that fills our hearts. So many people did so much to help recover the car from the Ohio River that might well have been the unknown tomb of our loved one.

We are eternally grateful to Mr. Earl Moffett, the East Liverpool and Chester fire and police departments, the Hancock County sheriff's department, the Columbiana County sheriff's department, Mr. Robert Prescott, Mr. "Curly" Miller (or Rowley), Officer Wilbur Dyke of the Columbiana police force, Mr. Pete Arner, Mr. Ray Zori, Mr. Al Gloeckner, the Salvation Army and at least two other drivers whose names we do not know.

Our sincere thanks to the women of the Madison Trinity Church of West Point and all the other friends and neighbors who provided a veritable mountain of food.

We undoubtedly have overlooked, or are not aware of, others who helped in some way. Please know that we deeply appreciate your help.

We thank God for every effort and every prayer. We thank Him, too, for the privilege of living in a community where so many people care about their fellow men.

Two Portraits

In midsummer, 1963, a remarkable book was published under the title "Death of a Republic." Its author, John Dickinson, had died some years before and a colleague of his at the University of Pennsylvania law school, George L. Haskins, had selected from an enormous manuscript left by Dickinson the story of how the Roman Republic had declined and perished during the century before the Caesars established the empire.

The pertinest lesson is that the transformation was achieved by the corruption of the Roman masses by the infusion of lavish doses of bread and circuses. Julius Caesar was the immediate destroyer of republican institutions, but the seeds of decay were sown by two brothers, Tiberius and Gaius Gracchus, who in the innocence of our schoolbooks are portrayed as heroic reformers. They lived approximately a century before Julius Caesar.

DICKINSON, A MAN deeply informed by his studies of history, knew well that all too often institutional corruption begins in the revered name of reform and the reader was left to apply the lesson to his own time. The master usually comes masked as the liberator.

There were readers of the book when it appeared who saw a parallel between the Gracchi and the two Kennedy brothers, John and Robert. Indeed, since I knew Dickinson well, that thought was with me when I wrote a review of his book. For in our time the two Kennedys rose to power by mobilizing the masses by costly promises of equality, justice and cash benefits for the underprivileged.

No one, however, dreamed when the Dickinson book appeared of the gruesome end of the parallel. The Gracchus brothers both died in the midst of civil violence and probably by the hands of assassins.

In the annals of our republic, the Kennedy story will have a notable place. Many books have been written about the two unfortunate brothers. Many more will be written in the future. Most will be in praise and adulation of their ideas and deeds. But the considered verdict of history will not be complete without portrayals of the side of those who opposed and feared them during their lifetime.

And in the more distant future the passionate loyalty and admiration which their campaigns and tragic ends have elicited will dim before a more sober evaluation. For considered history will deal in cold impartiality with the faults and failures of public figures as with their virtues.

Those historians will find invaluable material in the books of Victor Lasky, "J.F.K.: The Man and the Myth," published in early 1963, and "Robert F. Kennedy: The Man and the Myth," which appeared last month.

It must be remembered that both books were written when each of the brothers was a controversial figure, the one seeking re-election, the other seeking the nomination.

So far the anticipation was correct. And had the brothers lived, the Lasky books would have been basic texts of the opposition. But fate decreed that President Kennedy would die while the book about him was on the best-seller list, and the second book was written but had not been published while Robert was actively campaigning.

One may admire the grace and charm of J.F.K. and the grit and drive of R.F.K. But in both cases the expectations that they raised among the less privileged cannot be met by any political figure or by any government. Thus we may differ in our opinions about the men, their ideas and their methods.

CERTAINLY THOSE WHO OPPOSED those policies and methods should not be denied the right to express their opposition simply because these two leaders met tragic ends. It is this privilege, assured in a free society, that Lasky has exercised.

For there are plenty among the living who would further the Kennedy causes by stifling criticism. Reviewers, for the most part, have furthered that end by refusing comment on this new book about Robert Kennedy. But it should not remain unread by anyone who seeks an interpretation of the troubled times in which we live.

Another Fling At Self-Regulation

A code drawn up by the Motion Picture Association of America to rate films according to the nature of audiences they are designed for went into effect Nov. 2.

Attempts at self-regulation and censorship are nothing new in the movie industry. On March 31, 1930, the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., released a Code to Govern the Making of Motion and Talking pictures that said in part:

STIFF OBJECTIONS to early off-color or suggestive movies from within or outside the industry made them box office hits.

Obviously some people in Hollywood have become interested in widespread public reaction to the nature of many movies being shown in theaters and drive ins all over America.

Movie advertising from companies cooperating will contain one of four designations: "G," which means the picture is suggested for a general audience; "M" suggested for mature audithe parents as the guide of the family's conduct" is met.

Loud screams about the quality of movies coming out of Hollywood do not lessen parental responsibility in the matter.

NOT EVERY MOVIE is a Mary Poppins or The Sound of Music, the biggest film moneymakers in history, and it is up to parents to give proper guidance to their youngsters.

To parents who see nothing wrong with current film offerings or who don't care what their children see, the new code will have little meaning.

To the parents who exercise some control in the lives of their children and are concerned about what is shown to them in bigger-than-life-size doses, the code could be helpful.

ences; "R" restricted — persons under 16 not admitted unless accompanied by parent or adult guardian and "X," persons under 16 not admitted.

The intent of the new code is good but whether it will be effective still is in doubt.

Space Sleep

Sleeping in space seems to be somewhat difficult, at least for the Russian cosmonauts. A Russian scientist indicated this at a conference on space medicine held in Geneva, Switzerland.

The Soviet Union, he said, had experimented with the use of sleeping pills and electric shock to induce sleep but claimed that these were only ground tests.

American scientists believe, however, that the Russian spacemen have been provided with electrical equipment to help them sleep in the event of some disturbing element which would prevent them from going to sleep normally.

In commenting on the shock equipment, the Russian scientist said it was intended for use only on future flights of a year's duration or longer.

Year For Human Rights

Presentation of the Nobel Peace Prize to Rene Cassin of France Tuesday will be the weak highlight of the International Year for Human Rights sponsored by the United Nations General Assembly.

The Frenchman is a professor of international law and principal author of the U.N. Declaration of the Rights of Man. The awards being presented on the 20th anniversary of United Nations approval of the declaration.

SPEECHMAKING on progress in human rights will be limited at the ceremonies to be held in Oslo because the record of the past 20 years is not that impressive.

The United Nations charter is filled with references to human rights and fundamental freedoms but the eloquent prose amounts to nothing more than a statement in support of great moral principles.

The United Nations can no more enforce adherence to moral standards than it can enforce principles of peace.

For all the moral influence of the declaration and subsequent U.N. conventions, enjoyment of human rights is restricted, in one way or another, in every part of the globe.

Of the 15 principal U.N. conventions covering such topics as genocide, slavery, refugees and racial and educational discrimination, the United States has ratified two, Russia, four, Sweden, nine, France and Israel, seven, and South Africa, one.

If cultural heritage or government policies prevent U.N. member nations from subscribing to the principles of human rights outlined in the documents, isn't the whole process, including the designation of an international year, just so much wasted effort?

A CLUE TO THE function of the United Nations in this area is provided in the preamble to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights which explains that the documents sets "a common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations." In other words, a high goal has been set.

Concepts of the declaration have been written into the constitutions of 43 states that have come into being since 1948.

No Winter Sport

Area motorists who had forgotten what crystalized precipitation can do to the friction between four tires and a road surface were reminded over the weekend, some unhappily.

It only takes a bit of snow to bring out the best—and the worst—in a driver, especially on the hills we have in our district. Judicious use of brakes, accelerator and gears, plus snow treads, a windshield scraper, anti-freeze and properly working equipment will save your inconvenience, a repair bill and some select epithets in the lower highway vernacular at the very least. For the very worst, we leave it to your imagination and your next of kin.

Looking Before Leaping

There are indications that this may be the case with the Nixon administration's handling of the security gap issue.

Associates of President-elect Nixon say that he plans a careful and thorough study of the situation which he described as a "gravely serious security gap" before pouring new billions of dollars into defense measures.

In the absence of a crisis situation or even a situation calling for a speedy strengthening of our armed might, the careful analytical approach to the problem makes sense. Any other course would be reckless.

In view of the present inflationary trend, the quick expenditure of additional huge sums for military hardware would be unwise. Our "catch up" program, if stretched out, should tend to rock our economic boat less than a "crash" buying program.

Mr. Nixon has said the United States should achieve "clear-cut military superiority" in the interest of future world peace. With world conditions as they are, this policy seems reasonable although regrettable.

His plan to achieve that goal methodically and intelligently is equally reasonable.

Giving The Devil His Due

It wouldn't surprise us to see the formation of a society dedicated to the preservation of smog.

Founders would use the research of Dr. F. W. Went of the University of Nevada's Desert Research Institute as the basis for their organization.

Auto Strikes Building And Guardrails

A brand new car struck a building on the west end of the Pennsylvania Ave. "Hill Rd." Sunday afternoon, veered across the highway and rammed into a guardrail, police reported.

The collision, timed about 3, damaged a building at 305 Pennsylvania Ave. owned by Richard Spahr and pulled cables loose on two sections of guardrail.

There was heavy damage to a 1969 sedan owned by the Al Green Lincoln - Mercury agency at 1371 Pennsylvania Ave. The accident report did not list the driver of the auto. The collision damaged the car's front and rear bumpers, grill, deck lid and both left fenders.

Spahr told officers his building was hit by the auto, which then crossed the roadway and hit the guardrails. Edward Bowyer, a salesman for the auto agency, had the car towed away from the fence. At that time, he did not know it also had struck the building, officers said.

Skids on slippery pavement were blamed for two other traffic mishaps Sunday afternoon.

An accident on Lincoln Ave. at Grant St. at 12:50 damaged a 1967 two - door sedan driven by Robert James Boley, 30, of 1049 Peake St. and broke a guy wire supporting an Ohio Power Co. pole, officers said.

Boley told officers he was descending the grade about 5 miles an hour when his car slid on snow, went over the sidewalk, snapped the guy wire and also hit the utility pole. There was moderate damage to the right front fender, hood, grill and headlight of the auto.

A mishap at 1:45 at Ravine St. and Bradshaw Ave. damaged a 1965 two - door sedan driven by Carl F. Crabtree, 43, of 209 Ravine St. and a 1969 two-door sedan operated by Gordon R. Bright, 17, of 1307 Brightview Dr., officers said.

Crabtree told police he was turning from Bradshaw Ave. onto Ravine St. when Bright's car slid into his auto. Bright told police he was traveling at 5 to 10 miles an hour on Ravine St. at the time.

Helicopter Fire In Vietnam Fatal To Ex-Resident

A former East Liverpool resident has been killed in a helicopter accident in Vietnam.

He was Pfc. William C. Wymer of Scio, who resided here in his younger days and who worked part time last summer at Riverview Florists.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Fife Wymer of Cadiz RD 5, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Reinagle of Scio, were notified by Army officials that the private had died in a helicopter incident Nov. 17.

Pfc. Wymer was a crew chief with the 61st Assault Helicopter Co. The crew was on a troop movement mission when the helicopter caught fire and exploded after being hit by fragments from a mine which detonated while the soldiers were leaving the aircraft.

Stokes Offers Aid To Healy

NEW ORLEANS, (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes indicated Sunday he supports a move to persuade President-elect Richard M. Nixon to name Patrick Healy as his secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

Healy, 58, a former Republican-appointed tax commissioner in Utah, is executive director of the National League of Cities, which is sponsoring the congress.

Stokes met with newsmen as a pro-Healy move gathered momentum at the meeting. The league's executive board, meeting in closed session Sunday, voted unanimously in favor of Healy.

Stokes expressed concern that the Nixon administration will channel aid to the cities through state governments rather than granting funds directly to the municipalities.

Personalities In The News

NEW YORK (AP) — John J. Cassese heads the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, a union that staged a work slowdown last month and blamed much of the absenteeism on the Hong Kong flu.

On Saturday, Cassese was to receive the 1968 service award of the Columbia ESCA Alliance, an Italian-American group, but he failed to show up.

"He's at home," said City Comptroller Mario A. Procaccino, who was to present the award. "In truth and in fact, he's got the Hong Kong flu."

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The Brophy sisters, Mary Ann, 14, and Nancy, 13, have decided life with their family in their $300,000 mansion isn't so bad after all.

The girls, after spending a summer at a riding academy and boarding school, told a judge in juvenile court they would not return home because the mansion was the scene of wild parties and was "in a constant state of uproar."

On Nov. 4 a judge told them to choose between their home or juvenile hall. They chose juvenile hall but after four days in the detention home they said their tale of wild parties had been exaggerated and asked to return home.

On Friday, Superior Court Judge Edward R. Brand placed the girls on a year's probation and told them to obey their mother.

"It's wonderful to have them back," said Gloria Brophy Baker, who has five other children.

MANILA (AP) — The new Miss Asia is Mach Shih, 23, of Nationalist China. She was crowned Sunday night before a crowd of about 20,000.

BAMAKO, Mali (AP) — The ousted president of Mali, Mobido Keita, has been moved to an outpost prison in the Sahara, a military source reported Sunday.

The new rulers have said Keita and his followers will be tried but have given no date or indication of the charges. His regime was overthrown Nov. 19.

SAIGON (AP) — Dr. Nguyen Van Man, the former mayor of Da Nang sentenced to 10 years in prison for aiding a Buddhist rebellion, has been freed after serving 2½ years.

Man, a Roman Catholic, was in charge of the dispensary while in Saigon's Chi Hea Prison. He was released last week, it was reported Sunday.

Buddhists dissidents in the northern provinces were put down in 1966 by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Their attempt to overthrow the government was crushed by airborne troops at Da Nang and Hue.

Enrollment Hits All-Time High In U.S. Colleges

CINCINNATI (AP) — Enrollment of students in American colleges and universities has reached an all-time high again this year. And it is expected to continue through 1979.

Dr. Garland G. Parker, nationally recognized authority on college statistics, reported today that returns from 1,145 accredited four-year colleges and universities show a total of 4,092,234 full-time students. Last year 1,132 reporting schools had a total enrollment of 3,854,645 full-time students.

In considering part-time students, the enrollment was 5,521,963, or 5.7 per cent more than last year's 5,201,889.

The 1,100 schools which submitted reports for both 1967 and 1968 showed a total enrollment of 5,201,889, or an increase of 6.2. In 1967 the increase was 5.7 per cent over 1966.

Dr. Garland is vice provost for admissions and records at the University of Cincinnati. This was the 49th annual survey made through his office for the educational journal "School and Society."

The next regular meeting will be Feb. 5.

Stokes Offers Aid To Healy

NEW ORLEANS, (AP) — Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes indicated Sunday he supports a move to persuade President-elect Richard M. Nixon to name Patrick Healy as his secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

Healy, 58, a former Republican-appointed tax commissioner in Utah, is executive director of the National League of Cities, which is sponsoring the congress.

Stokes met with newsmen as a pro-Healy move gathered momentum at the meeting. The league's executive board, meeting in closed session Sunday, voted unanimously in favor of Healy.

Stokes expressed concern that the Nixon administration will channel aid to the cities through state governments rather than granting funds directly to the municipalities.

Domestic Unit Moved By Beaver Authorities

BEAVER — The Domestic Relations Division of Beaver County Court was transferred from the old detention home quarters adjacent to the County Jail to the former Anderson property at the rear of the Courthouse over the weekend.

The need for larger and more convenient quarters for the division, which employs 16, led to the transfer of the department headed by E. B. McNitt.

Personalities In The News

NEW YORK (AP) — John J. Cassese heads the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, a union that staged a work slowdown last month and blamed much of the absenteeism on the Hong Kong flu.

On Saturday, Cassese was to receive the 1968 service award of the Columbia ESCA Alliance, an Italian-American group, but he failed to show up.

"He's at home," said City Comptroller Mario A. Procaccino, who was to present the award. "In truth and in fact, he's got the Hong Kong flu."

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The Brophy sisters, Mary Ann, 14, and Nancy, 13, have decided life with their family in their $300,000 mansion isn't so bad after all.

The girls, after spending a summer at a riding academy and boarding school, told a judge in juvenile court they would not return home because the mansion was the scene of wild parties and was "in a constant state of uproar."

On Nov. 4 a judge told them to choose between their home or juvenile hall. They chose juvenile hall but after four days in the detention home they said their tale of wild parties had been exaggerated and asked to return home.

On Friday, Superior Court Judge Edward R. Brand placed the girls on a year's probation and told them to obey their mother.

"It's wonderful to have them back," said Gloria Brophy Baker, who has five other children.

MANILA (AP) — The new Miss Asia is Mach Shih, 23, of Nationalist China. She was crowned Sunday night before a crowd of about 20,000.

The beauty queen measures 34-22-35, stands 5-feet-5 and weighs 108 pounds. She will receive $2,500, a wardrobe and an Asian tour.

BAMAKO, Mali (AP) — The ousted president of Mali, Mobido Keita, has been moved to an outpost prison in the Sahara, a military source reported Sunday.

The new rulers have said Keita and his followers will be tried but have given no date or indication of the charges. His regime was overthrown Nov. 19.

SAIGON (AP) — Dr. Nguyen Van Man, the former mayor of Da Nang sentenced to 10 years in prison for aiding a Buddhist rebellion, has been freed after serving 2½ years.

Man, a Roman Catholic, was in charge of the dispensary while in Saigon's Chi Hea Prison. He was released last week, it was reported Sunday.

Buddhists dissidents in the northern provinces were put down in 1966 by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Their attempt to overthrow the government was crushed by airborne troops at Da Nang and Hue.

The DOCTOR Says

Seek Psychological Guidance For Her

A mother writes that her daughter, 10, was a happy, normal girl until, during science class at school, she had to learn about how food animals are butchered and prepared for market. She has fainted three times in school and now refuses to eat any kind of meat. Apart from the dietary problem this has caused at home, this mother is worried about the child's future. She thought that time and patient understanding would resolve the difficulty but the child appears to be getting worse.

Dr. Brandstadt

AS A RESULT she has been excused from all health and science periods at the request of the teacher. She does exceptionally well in art and all other subjects but, at times, she says she doesn't want to go on living. The mother wonders if this behavior indicates a mental disturbance or just exaggerated squeamishness.

—:—

THIS IS a rather extreme case of oversensitiveness coupled with disgust. An eminent psychiatrist, Abraham Myerson, stated that disgust is a habit that unfits one for life. Since there is no easy solution to this problem, this child should receive the guidance of a child psychologist, especially in view of the fact that she apparently has suicidal ideas.

Q—A woman I know gives her baby, who has a heart murmur, aspirin every day. Isn't this harmful?

A—Although rheumatic heart disease is rare in children who are under four years of age, this child might have it, in which case a daily dose of aspirin would be beneficial and would be less likely to cause harmful side effects than in a normal child.

Q—I gave my granddaughter 12, a five - grain aspirin tablet when she had a fever and sore throat; 45 minutes later she vomited blood. Could this have been caused by the aspirin. If so, why do doctors prescribe it?

A—A single aspirin tablet is not too large a dose for a 12-year-old girl and, although prolonged use of large doses of aspirin may cause bleeding from the stomach, this was not the cause of bleeding in your granddaughter. Irritation of the stomach by aspirin can be minimized by dissolving the tablet in a full glass of water. Doctors prescribe aspirin because it is a valuable drug for reducing fevers.

Home Hints

The type of topcoat and overcoat a man needs depends on the climate and whether he is warm-blooded or cold-blooded, points out Mrs. Ruth F. Funk, extension home economist for Beaver County.

Topcoat fabrics are lighter in weight — usually ranging from 11 to 17 ounces per yard. Overcoatings start at 20 ounces and can weigh as much as 28 ounces per yard. Coats made of fabrics weighing between 17 and 20 ounces per yard are called "midweights" or "California weights." Overcoats are for cold weather, but many topcoats can span several seasons.

CURRENT fashion trends designate various topcoat and overcoat lengths — knee and those slightly below the knee. Coats, like suits, are made in traditional styles and in square-shouldered or contemporary models. Equally popular in both categories are classic double-breasted polo coats, made of camel's hair or in camel-color cloth.

Shaped single - breasted styles make fine business coats. Good travel and casual coats are easy - fitting balmacaans with either raglan or split-raglan shoulders, which have a raglan - style shoulder in back while appearing to have a set-in sleeve in front.

Currently popular fabrics are tweeds, velours and deeply ridged twills. Classic cloths, such as gabardines, coverts and meltons, always find a fashion niche. A man who dresses in contemporary styles will find coats in honey-golds, lively blues and some definite greens. If he's a traditionalist, he'll go for dressy darkish blues, grays and browns for business coats —colorful sport-coating tweeds for casual wear, according to Mrs. Funk.

SOME NEWER topcoating materials are blends of polyester and wool. They come in a variety of weaves including herringbone, hopsackings and gabardines. These blends resist wrinkles, hold their press, and when treated with a water-repellent finish, can resist a moderate amount of rain.

If possible, it is best to have a wardrobe of one topcoat and one overcoat in cold climates; two topcoats in milder areas. But, it is both economical as well as fashionable to have more than one of each type. A rest between wearings will prolong the life of the garments.

For the man with one-coat wardrobe, his best choice probably would be a topcoat in a neutral color with a zip-in liner for cold weather. He would be wise to buy the best quality coat he can afford. A coat must be rugged to survive being worn every day, in fair weather or foul, for business and for pleasure.

Mobile Homes

They've Come Into Their Own

By JIM CROSSLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Retired people, particularly, should be pleased with the new things happening to mobile homes.

Maturity has arrived. They were called "trailers" at the start. Now economists bandy about the phrase, "relocatable housing."

Everyone has begun treating mobile homes respectfully —some with deference.

For good cause, too.

Five million persons live in them now.

There are 22,020 home parks with a million spaces.

A quarter of the mobile home occupants, in parks or elsewhere, are retirees. One-half are young - marrieds. A trend: An increasing number are what economists call "mature families," which means the children are grown and gone.

The mobile home, realistically, is factory - built housing and important to us. Where else could a new two - bedroom home be purchased in the $6,000 bracket?

Costs average at $8 per square foot, furnished, against $14 per square foot for the hand - built house, unfurnished.

New developments allow those who demand esthetics in their housing to raise a cheer. The manufacturers have discovered the ridged roof.

LOTS OF people wouldn't accept the Matchbox Modern architecture of the past.

It was all right to build houses in a factory like refrigerators but did they have to look like reclining refrigerators? Now the designers, who haven't done too badly with the interiors, are juggling aluminum siding, new roof, doorway and window treatments. They even use a pleasant simulated brick for exteriors.

"Double - wides" gave them new dimensions to work with. The rectangle was limiting.

About 80 per cent of the existing structures are rectangles, the largest now 12 feet wide and 60 to 65 feet long.

Two variations came along. The "expandable" has one or two sections that slide out from the rectangle to add six or eight feet of width for a bedroom or living room, giving the structure an L or F shape.

Those homes that appear half - finished seen trundling the interstate highways are "double - wides," the third configuration. On site, two are fastened together to form a dwelling 20 to 24 feet wide and over 50 feet long.

ANY NUMBER of these modules can be built to fasten or clamp together, each with its proper plumbing, wiring or appliances in place. And they have been used for other types of buildings — dormitories, motels, Job Corps barracks included.

This puts a glitter in city planners' eyes. These building blocks could hold the answer to rebuilding our cities. Habitat, at Expo '67, was a demonstration.

Small Plane Crashes In Youngstown Area

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The pilot of a private twin-engine plane and his passenger escaped serious injury Sunday night when the plane crashed in a heavily wooded area southeast of Youngstown Municipal Airport.

Dr. J. L. Logan of Warren, the pilot, and a passenger who refused to identify himself, walked away from the wreckage and hitched a ride to the airport.

Airport officials said the plane was heavily damaged.

A tower spokesman said the plane was at 1,000 feet when it disappeared from the radar screen. There was heavy snow at the time.

A NEW WEDDING RING

Wedding rings have a long and colorful history of romance over the centuries. The first rings to symbolize "togetherness" might have been nothing more than woven grass or leather thongs. Today, they may be as elaborate as you like. It wasn't until the 15th century that two rings . . . one for the betrothal, the other for the marriage rite . . . came into vogue. It was also in the next century that rings for both the bride and groom came to be an accepted part of the wedding ritual. This was mainly a custom among German and Scandinavian people.

In Colonial times, wedding rings of gold were rather wide bands, and some, called "keeper rings" were set with small diamonds, usually in a cluster, but sometimes in a round "hoop". In this century, wedding rings in the 1930's and 40's were often of platinum or white gold, and much narrower than those of the Victorian era. Sometimes a delicate chasing of orange blossoms decorated the simple band.

While it used to be traditional that the bride never removed her wedding ring, today, modern wives find that a wardrobe of rings is more appropriate to her way of life. For active sports and daily household activities, the plain band is still in good taste. But for dressier occasions, or to match a lovely diamond engagement ring, a diamond wedding band is preferred. Other bands, sometimes of carved jade, are also popular. If your bride already has one wedding band, or if it is showing signs of wear, do consider giving her another this Christmas, especially if now you are better able financially to give her the diamond band she has always wanted.

Mobile Homes

They've Come Into Their Own

By JIM CROSSLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Retired people, particularly, should be pleased with the new things happening to mobile homes.

Maturity has arrived. They were called "trailers" at the start. Now economists bandy about the phrase, "relocatable housing."

Everyone has begun treating mobile homes respectfully —some with deference.

For good cause, too.

Five million persons live in them now.

There are 22,020 home parks with a million spaces.

A quarter of the mobile home occupants, in parks or elsewhere, are retirees. One-half are young - marrieds. A trend: An increasing number are what economists call "mature families," which means the children are grown and gone.

The mobile home, realistically, is factory - built housing and important to us. Where else could a new two - bedroom home be purchased in the $6,000 bracket?

Costs average at $8 per square foot, furnished, against $14 per square foot for the hand - built house, unfurnished.

New developments allow those who demand esthetics in their housing to raise a cheer. The manufacturers have discovered the ridged roof.

LOTS OF people wouldn't accept the Matchbox Modern architecture of the past.

It was all right to build houses in a factory like refrigerators but did they have to look like reclining refrigerators? Now the designers, who haven't done too badly with the interiors, are juggling aluminum siding, new roof, doorway and window treatments. They even use a pleasant simulated brick for exteriors.

"Double - wides" gave them new dimensions to work with. The rectangle was limiting.

About 80 per cent of the existing structures are rectangles, the largest now 12 feet wide and 60 to 65 feet long.

Two variations came along. The "expandable" has one or two sections that slide out from the rectangle to add six or eight feet of width for a bedroom or living room, giving the structure an L or F shape.

Those homes that appear half - finished seen trundling the interstate highways are "double - wides," the third configuration. On site, two are fastened together to form a dwelling 20 to 24 feet wide and over 50 feet long.

ANY NUMBER of these modules can be built to fasten or clamp together, each with its proper plumbing, wiring or appliances in place. And they have been used for other types of buildings — dormitories, motels, Job Corps barracks included.

This puts a glitter in city planners' eyes. These building blocks could hold the answer to rebuilding our cities. Habitat, at Expo '67, was a demonstration.

Small Plane Crashes In Youngstown Area

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The pilot of a private twin-engine plane and his passenger escaped serious injury Sunday night when the plane crashed in a heavily wooded area southeast of Youngstown Municipal Airport.

Dr. J. L. Logan of Warren, the pilot, and a passenger who refused to identify himself, walked away from the wreckage and hitched a ride to the airport.

Airport officials said the plane was heavily damaged.

A tower spokesman said the plane was at 1,000 feet when it disappeared from the radar screen. There was heavy snow at the time.

A NEW WEDDING RING

Wedding rings have a long and colorful history of romance over the centuries. The first rings to symbolize "togetherness" might have been nothing more than woven grass or leather thongs. Today, they may be as elaborate as you like. It wasn't until the 15th century that two rings . . . one for the betrothal, the other for the marriage rite . . . came into vogue. It was also in the next century that rings for both the bride and groom came to be an accepted part of the wedding ritual. This was mainly a custom among German and Scandinavian people.

In Colonial times, wedding rings of gold were rather wide bands, and some, called "keeper rings" were set with small diamonds, usually in a cluster, but sometimes in a round "hoop". In this century, wedding rings in the 1930's and 40's were often of platinum or white gold, and much narrower than those of the Victorian era. Sometimes a delicate chasing of orange blossoms decorated the simple band.

While it used to be traditional that the bride never removed her wedding ring, today, modern wives find that a wardrobe of rings is more appropriate to her way of life. For active sports and daily household activities, the plain band is still in good taste. But for dressier occasions, or to match a lovely diamond engagement ring, a diamond wedding band is preferred. Other bands, sometimes of carved jade, are also popular. If your bride already has one wedding band, or if it is showing signs of wear, do consider giving her another this Christmas, especially if now you are better able financially to give her the diamond band she has always wanted.

ambassador to France. However, the fact that the conversation at the President-elect's Fifth Avenue apartment was the longest yet announced by Nixon prompted speculation about Shriver's future.

Shriver described the meeting as "a pleasant and I hope useful visit." He said it would be up to Nixon to reveal whether he was given any personal message to carry to French President Charles de Gaulle.

Herbert Klein, Nixon's director of communications, said Sunday that he thought the incoming President would seek closer ties with Western European allies before considering personal talks with Soviet leaders.

Klein also indicated Nixon has virtually completed selection of a Cabinet. Nixon's choices will be announced this week, perhaps in a national television-radio appearance. Aides have said no Cabinet nominees would be disclosed before Tuesday.

Klein appeared on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press."

Nixon returned to New York Saturday after spending two days in Southern California. Before leaving Palm Springs, site of the national Republican Governors Conference, Nixon met with House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan and with Sen. George Murphy and Rep. Bob Wilson, California Republicans.

The President-elect tentatively plans to go to Washington next Monday to meet with Republican congressional leaders. He has said he would confer later with congressional chiefs of both parties.

—A firm which did business with the government last year to the tune of $500 million has purchased part of a fast-growing computerized credit data agency.

Firm Being Checked

One of the 13 credit reporting firms involved in the inquiry in Retail Credit Co., of Atlanta, Ga., which is also under scrutiny by the Justice Department for possible antitrust violations.

Retail Credit, which already owss Credit Bureaus Inc., of Georgia and its 58 local companies in the East, South and California is moving to buy 36 more reporting bureaus from the Francis Smith interests in four western states.

W. Lee Burge, president of Retail Credit, said in Atlanta Sunday there have been some abuses in the credit reporting industry, but "it has been remarkably free of abuse when you consider that multimillions of credit investigations are made each year."

Burge said too much government regulation could hurt the industry.

Others scheduled to testify —Dr. Harry C. Jordan, chairman of Credit Data Corp., who told a House subcommittee last March that his firm could have every American's name listed on its computers by 1973.

TRW Inc., a diversified firm that did half-a-billion dollars in government business last year, already owns part of Credit Data and may buy the rest.

—John L. Spafford, vice president of Associated Credit Bureaus of America, Inc., which maintains credit ratings on almost 100 million people.

Associated Credit local bureaus was found by the subcommittee to have been under the same ownership as collection agencies in more than two-thirds of the 130 cities with population of more than 100,000.

The Quids was a faction of the Republican party led by John Randolph from 1805 to 1811. The name was derived from teritium quid, signifying LISBON — Film personalities Shirley MacLaine and Steve Parker of Beverly Hills have purchased oil and gas rights on a 140-acre Knox Township farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Hunter.

A $85,000 financing agreement for rights on the Hunter farm as well as a farm in Stark County and another in Tuscarawas County was filed Friday in the office of J. P. Wargo, county recorder.

The Hunter farm is on Buck Rd. in the southwest quarter of Section 9. The Parkers obtained the loan from the Halliburton Co. of Duncan, Okla. Oil and gas rights on the three properties were held previously by the East Ohio Gas Co. and the Xit Corp.

ambassador to France. However, the fact that the conversation at the President-elect's Fifth Avenue apartment was the longest yet announced by Nixon prompted speculation about Shriver's future.

Shriver described the meeting as "a pleasant and I hope useful visit." He said it would be up to Nixon to reveal whether he was given any personal message to carry to French President Charles de Gaulle.

Herbert Klein, Nixon's director of communications, said Sunday that he thought the incoming President would seek closer ties with Western European allies before considering personal talks with Soviet leaders.

Klein also indicated Nixon has virtually completed selection of a Cabinet. Nixon's choices will be announced this week, perhaps in a national television-radio appearance. Aides have said no Cabinet nominees would be disclosed before Tuesday.

Klein appeared on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press."

Nixon returned to New York Saturday after spending two days in Southern California. Before leaving Palm Springs, site of the national Republican Governors Conference, Nixon met with House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan and with Sen. George Murphy and Rep. Bob Wilson, California Republicans.

The President-elect tentatively plans to go to Washington next Monday to meet with Republican congressional leaders. He has said he would confer later with congressional chiefs of both parties.

One of the 13 credit reporting firms involved in the inquiry in Retail Credit Co., of Atlanta, Ga., which is also under scrutiny by the Justice Department for possible antitrust violations.

Retail Credit, which already owss Credit Bureaus Inc., of Georgia and its 58 local companies in the East, South and California is moving to buy 36 more reporting bureaus from the Francis Smith interests in four western states.

W. Lee Burge, president of Retail Credit, said in Atlanta Sunday there have been some abuses in the credit reporting industry, but "it has been remarkably free of abuse when you consider that multimillions of credit investigations are made each year."

Burge said too much government regulation could hurt the industry.

Others scheduled to testify —Dr. Harry C. Jordan, chairman of Credit Data Corp., who told a House subcommittee last March that his firm could have every American's name listed on its computers by 1973.

TRW Inc., a diversified firm that did half-a-billion dollars in government business last year, already owns part of Credit Data and may buy the rest.

Associated Credit local bureaus was found by the subcommittee to have been under the same ownership as collection agencies in more than two-thirds of the 130 cities with population of more than 100,000.

Some Ideas For Perking Up Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If neighbors and friends are pulling off little architectural and decorating coups in their homes, don't despair. It may be a bit frustrating for one who doesn't dig such ventures, but you can try.

You can cultivate the art by sizing up your own home by the inch, yard, wall, floor and ceiling and thinking "home improvement."

There are lots of new ideas that can give your home a shot in the girders. For example:

Walls: Plastics are reproduced in brick, stone, old barn wood and just about any textured wood to give your old walls a new face.

Wide, colorful borders of paper or woven material may be used as "moldings" for delightful architectural touches.

Fake fur, suede, burlap, cotton, velvet, shiny vinyl, flocked papers may liven one or more walls.

BEADED curtains may change the entire atmosphere of a room when used over a wall. (One artist dipped corks in colored paint, alternating corks with beads — less expensive than all beads, he says.)

False walls may be put up in front of real ones, and these may be ordered ready - made when you furnish dimensions to firms that specialize.

These are usually a series of arches set in panels that may be used in different ways to set moods. Decorators fill in arches with (a) fabric (to match something in the room), (b) beaded curtains, (c) mirrors. This wall is usually painted the same color as the other walls to carry out interest.

Such false walls are being used everywhere — by decorators themselves to give the impression of larger rooms and a garden beyond. A wall set several feet from a southern exposure with picture window that permits sun and light into the room may indeed project a garden idea when the area between the walls is loaded with plants (and statuary).

Treillage, the idea of livening walls with Tromp L'Oiel papers or trellising itself can do wonders for giving one or more walls a lift.

Vinyl flooring is available that projects any look from Colonial with peg boards to flagstone. Many young people use solid vinyl squares and insert collages, shellacking over the flowers or geometrical design.

Windows: Indoor shutters are back to cover air-conditioning or an unpleasant view. Paint them the same color as the room.

Room Dividers: Make your own to hide an untidy corner of a room or to separate one area from another to get additional space. If it is to be permanent have a floor-to-ceiling frame made or use a ready - made screen, putting on it or within it whatever suits you. If you want it to be solid, cover it with paintings, imaginative objects, embroidery. A worthwhile but long-time project observed recently was a standing screen of embroidered flowers. And at the recent Embroiderer's Guild Show in New York, Mary Lindsay, wife of New York's mayor, had loaned a screen of embroidered scenes of the city's five boroughs, truly a needlework masterpiece. But one need not be that ambitious to do something effective in one's own home.

A SPOOL divider could be a very interesting one, if spools are strung together (perhaps alternated with corks) and attached within a frame. This is a good idea for the woman who belongs to a sewing group and can prevail upon her friends to save their old thread spools.

Right Wrench Will Come To Grips With A Problem

The man who services your car may have drawers and drawers filled with wrenches. You may have only one.

The more work you do—in the garage or in the home—the more variations of this handy tool you will need.

There is no such thing as an all-purpose wrench. But careful selection can give the average home owner a handful of wrenches that will provide him with the greatest use.

The wrench is a substitute for your thumb and forefinger. Made of steel instead of flesh, it grasps more securely than you could with your fingers, applies more leverage, gets into places you couldn't possibly reach.

CONVENTIONAL pliers will do just so much since you must continue to squeeze as you turn. When the pliers will do no good, you need a wrench.

Nearest thing to an all-purpose wrench, is the adjustable wrench.

This is an open-end wrench, with adjustable jaws. The jaws are smooth so as not to mar the work. It will fit any size nut or bolt within is specific capacity. Size of the wrench is determined by over-all length. Four-, eight- and 12-inch wrenches will take care of average needs.

A regular open-end wrench has an opening that will fit just one size, thus you need an assortment of them.

But they save time in adjusting and they provide perfect fit. Jaws do not go out of adjustment as they do with the adjustable wrench. A box wrench has a closed end with serrations on its inner surface. This provides an excellent grip, better than the open - end wrench. But if you can only approach from the side, the Box-end wrench is limited.

WHILE you can get separate sets of each you also can get a grip on a nut or bolt. It consists of a steel cylinder with teeth on the inside. A handle (there's a variety) grips the socket on the other end for turning.

The average man will have little use for socket wrenches unless he intends to change his own spark plugs. Occasionally a socket can solve a plumbing problem, such as shower faucet handles set deep into a wall and unreachable otherwise.

For plumbing in general, however, you will need a regular pipe wrench; in fact, several. This is an adjustable wrench with teeth on both jaws intended for use on smooth, round surfaces, such as pipes.

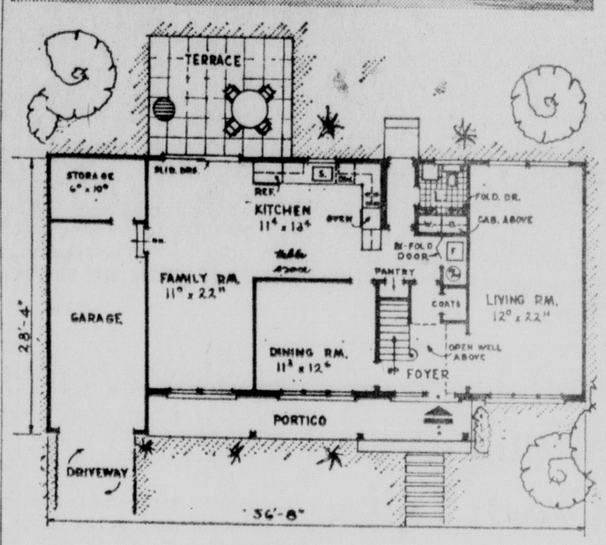

Remember that they bite into the metal, so do not use on chromed parts unless you intend to throw them away. If you must use a pipe wrench in such a case, protect the surface with tape.

THE PIPE wrench grips in only one direction. The jaws tighten under pressure, ease up when you stop and turn the other way. Apply, your wrench accordingly.

With the closed side of the jaws on top, push down on the handle. Or, if it is easier, apply pressure toward the opening.

ENTRANCE INTO Home HA574Y is from a long covered portico to a two-story-high foyer. A hall leads to the rear door. Kitchen and lavatory (containing laundry) are handy to the rear yard. The living room has plenty of wall space for varied furniture arrangements. Formal dining room is out of traffic circulation. Family room is not under bedrooms, keeping sound transmission to upper floor to a minimum. Functional L-arrangement and table space make for an ideal kitchen. Upstairs, three corner-exposed bedrooms have plenty of closet space. Each bathroom has a window for natural light and ventilation. There is 1,093 square feet on the first floor and 840 on the second floor. Architect is Herman York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N. Y. 11432.

Mildew Should Be Attacked During Its First Appearance

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

We all like plants growing in and around the house — but not when they cause the highly undesirable condition known as mildew.

Did you know that mildew is produced by molds, simple but actual plants in the group called fungi? These mold spores are in the air all around us, but make their presence known only when they have ideal conditions under which they can grow.

The conditions are dampness, warmth, lack of air movement and poor light. When these things exist in the right proportions, the molds settle on objects from which they can get enough food, producing the usually whitish growth familiar to us as mildew.

IN ITS initial stages, mildew merely has an unpleasant appearance. That's the time to get rid of it. If allowed to enlarge, it causes discoloration and rotting and emits a musty odor. Favorite targets are wood, leather, paper and nearly all fabrics except such man-made materials as nylon, acetate, polyester and acrylic.

When mildew is discovered on any wooden part of the house, the area should be scrubbed with any household cleaning agent that contains trisodium phosphate.

For stubborn cases, make a solution of three ounces of trisodium phosphate, one quart of household bleach, one ounce of a powdered detergent and three quarts of lukewarm water. After scrubbing, rinse the treated portion with clear water. To prevent a recurrence, coat the area with a mildew-resistant paint.

Clothing or household fabrics which have been attacked by mildew should be taken outside the house, brushed thoroughly and left in the sun as long as possible.

Should the material be stainsgent and water, rinse well and ed, wash with soap or deterdry in the sun. If the stain isn't thoroughly gone, repeat the process. And if it still hangs on, then use a commercial bleach or a mixture of lemon juice and salt — assuming that the fabric is colorfast. Nonwashable articles, of course, must be drycleaned, as housewives know.

TH REMOVE mildew from leather goods, make a solution of equal parts of denatured alcohol and cold water. Soak a clean cloth in the mixture, then rub the affected area. Dry out-

Contract Is Let For Post Office

EMPIRE — United Leasing, Inc., of Youngstown has been awarded a contract to build the new post office here.

Preliminary estimates indicate that the initial investment will total approximately $15,636, according to Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson at Washington.

The facility will be located at College and Nessley Sts. and will be leased by United Leasing to the Post Office Department for eight years, with renewal options running through 20 years.

The one-story building will be air-conditioned and will have 768 square feet of interior space compared with 352 in the present structure.

It is expected to be completed by next July 1.

Mary B. Federspill, Empire postmaster, said space in the present facility on Stewart St. then will be abandoned for postal purposes.

Clothing or household fabrics which have been attacked by mildew should be taken outside the house, brushed thoroughly and left in the sun as long as possible.

Should the material be stainged and water, rinse well and ed, wash with soap or deterdry in the sun. If the stain isn't thoroughly gone, repeat the process. And if it still hangs on, then use a commercial bleach or a mixture of lemon juice and salt — assuming that the fabric is colorfast. Nonwashable articles, of course, must be drycleaned, as housewives know.

TH REMOVE mildew from leather goods, make a solution of equal parts of denatured alcohol and cold water. Soak a clean cloth in the mixture, then rub the affected area. Dry out-doors or, if this is not practical, in the path of an electric fan.

This usually will work, but if traces of mildew remain, wash the leather with a mild soap or detergent or a soap containing a fungicide. To prevent mildew, leather goods should be polished with a wax dressing.

A frequent cause of mildew in clothes closets is the habit of hanging wet garments in them. Always dry an article of clothing wet by rain or perspiration before putting it in the closet.

A cynic is a fellow who says that what you get back is doughballs when you cast your bread upon the waters.

Contract Is Let For Post Office

Preliminary estimates indicate that the initial investment will total approximately $15,636, according to Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson at Washington.

The facility will be located at College and Nessley Sts. and will be leased by United Leasing to the Post Office Department for eight years, with renewal options running through 20 years.

The one-story building will be air-conditioned and will have 768 square feet of interior space compared with 352 in the present structure.

It is expected to be completed by next July 1.

Mary B. Federspill, Empire postmaster, said space in the present facility on Stewart St. then will be abandoned for postal purposes.

Steel Orders Seen Rising In December

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Demand for finished steel is up slightly and December bookings may be the heaviest since July, Steel magazine said Monday.

Steel said anticipated orders should boost January mill shipments over the six million tons estimated for December and the improvement may carry into February and March.

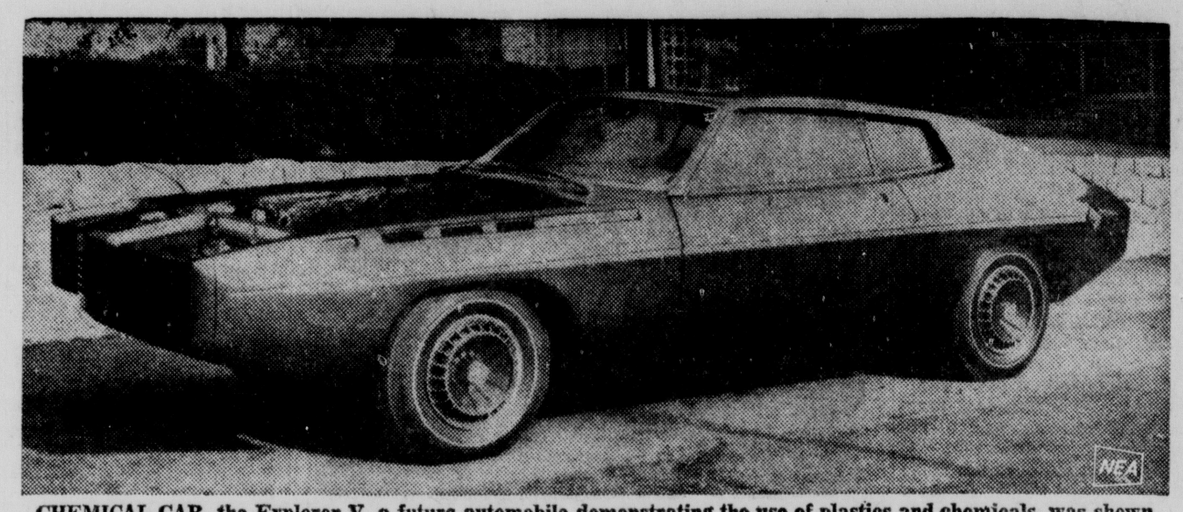

The metalworking management weekly said steel mills have seldom had to take more than the minimum four to six weeks for production and have frequently been able to make immediate delibery on orders. But the magazine said buyers were reporting that leadtime on hot rolled sheets had lengthened by about two weeks.

"This is traced to a bulge in buying in the wake of this $25 per ton price reduction early in November," Steel said. It noted, however, that U.S. Steel's rescinding of the price cut and restoration of the old base quotation of $113.50 per ton as of Dec. 16 might decrease the level of buying.

The magazine said mill stockpiling of inventories was partly responsible for the steady rise in steel production since the end of September.

Steel estimated raw steel output in the week ending Dec. 7 at 2,430,000 net tons, up 3.1 per cent from the preceding week's 2,356,000 tons to the highest weekly level since the industry labor contract settlement at the end of July.

Steel's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting grade of steelmaking scrap rose 41 cents to $24.83 per gross ton, its highest mark since May.

Prague Appears Uneasy

Little Information Given About Soviet-Czech Talks

PRAGUE (AP) — Uneasiness was felt in Prague today over a weekend Soviet-Czechoslovak summit meeting held in the Ukraine amid the kind of secrecy that was common before Alexander Dubcek came to power.

The two-day talks in Kiev covered "issues of common interest" including "further development of cooperation" between the two Communist parties and countries, a vague communique issued Sunday in Moscow said.

It said the talks "passed in a cordial atmosphere, in comradely and friendly spirit." The language was warmer than that used to describe previous Soviet-Czechoslovak meetings, but there was no mention of "complete unity of views"—the Communist phrase to describe agreement fully satisfying the Kremlin.

Most Czechoslovak officials and the local press was kept in the dark about the meeting until after it was over. This was in marked contrast to nearly all earlier meetings which Communist party chief Dubcek and his associates held with Kremlin officials, both before and after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in August.

The extreme secrecy was a blow to Czechoslovak journalists, intellectuals, students and factory groups who have been protesting the drastic curtailment of information since the invasion.

Journalists have been working to establish a dialogue with the authorities and to reopen channels of information. Two weeks ago all leading cultural unions adopted a resolution warning that despite all promises the government was returning to "a closed-door policy of secret dealings and agreements ... without any possibility for citizens to criticize or take part."

Concern Registered

Some concern was felt in Prague that the progressive Dubcek was virtually isolated on his five-member delegation because the four men who accompanied him are regarded as members of a growing "center" group that stresses accomodation to Soviet demands rather than preservation of Dubcek-era reforms.

The four were President Ludvik Svoboda, Premier Oldrich Cernik and Deputy Premiers Gustav Husak, head of the Slovak Communist party, and Lubomir Strougal, head of the embryonic Czech Communist party.

Strougal, interior minister under the ousted Antonin Novotny, emerged as a fast rising political power last month when he was given a party secretaryship, a post on the party presidium and membership on the presidium's "inner eight" executive committee. He is regarded as pro-Moscow.

The Kiev meeting presumably covered the full range of Soviet-Czechoslovak issues, including the Czechoslovak party Central Committee session on economic reforms starting next Thursday and complaints about Soviet interference in Czechoslovakia's internal affairs.

Grand Jury Resumes Probe In Steubenville

The Jefferson County grand jury reconvened today at Steubenville to resume its interrupted probe of charges that Sheriff Richard P. Wells protected an alleged house of prostitution in the northern section of the county, near Wellsville.

Two witnesses were slated to testify in today's session — Delbert Roberts, the FBI's resident special agent at Steubenville, and Dorman Patterson of Post Office Box 325, Irondale, a Saline Township trustee. The alleged house of prostitution was located in Saline Township, authorities said.

The grand jury's probe was interrupted Thursday when the court stenographer became ill. The grand jury was recalled Nov. 29 after Kenneth Swiger, 41, of near Toronto, the sheriff's brother - in - law, alleged that Wells had provided deputies as escorts for the woman manager of the house.

Chin Injury Follows Area Auto Collision

Eric Bush, son of Atty. and Mrs. William Bush of 435 Riverside Ave., Wellsville, was treated at Osteopathic Hospital for a cut on the chin received as the aftermath of a two-car accident on the Old Logstown Rd. near Lisbon.

Bush, attending a meeting of the Order of the Arrow Committee of the Boy Scouts at Camp McKinley, and Randy Colazzi of Salem were driving on the snow-covered road when their cars collided. When Bush got out to survey the damage, which was minor, he fell, striking his chin.

Woman Hurt As Autos Hit

The 19-year-old wife of a Steubenville man is "satisfactory" today at Weirton General Hospital with injuries suffered in a two-car accident Sunday morning on the Swearingen Hill Rd., about 1,000 feet east of King's Creek Rd. in Hancock County.

Mrs. Linda K. Hannen of Steubenville received multiple body lacerations. Her husband, Thomas McNeil Hannen, was uninjured. The other driver, William Forrest Felton Jr., 17, of Weirton RD 1, was treated for minor injuries.

The accident, timed at 9:47, occurred when the 1966 Hannen auto, traveling downgrade on the slippery road, struck the 1959 Felton auto which was headed up the hill. Both autos were declared a total loss.

No citations were filed, sheriff's deputies said.

A Georgetown (Ohio) woman was treated at Weirton General Hospital Sunday afternoon when her 1963 vehicle, southbound, rounded a curve on Route 8, skidded sideways on ice and went over an embankment, striking a tree.

Janice Mostowski, 20, was the driver in the one-car accident which occurred at 2:16 on Route 8 at the intersection of the Pleasant Hills Gold Club Rd.

Damages amounted to $300, deputies said.

"The board in its makeup of the group did not exclude the parent organization of the teachers, whose representative has been at almost all of the meetings since the latest situation, as he was in the past situations. As a board member I do not think I could give all the credence due to any report from the OEA because of their being the parent of the ELTA and as the statement was made that the grouping recommended by the board might be 'administratively oriented;' ccertainly then this depth study by the OEA could be nothing but heavily 'teacher oriented.' It would have seemed that at least the study by the group first named could have been received and evaluated by all before being condemned."

Thief Obtains Coins In City Office Entry

A thief escaped with a box containing an undetermined amount of change in a weekend burglary at the office of the Potters Adjustment Bureau in the Brookes Building at W. 5th and Market Sts., police reported.

The entry occurred between noon Saturday and 6:58 p.m. Sunday. It was discovered by Miller Carter of 1185 Pennsylvania Ave., a janitor in the building. Mrs. Carl McVay of 1012 Waterloo St., an employe of the agency, went to the office to check on the loss after she was notified by police.

Entry was gained by breaking a lock on the front door. The entire office was ransacked, but it was not determined if anything else was missing, officers said. The burglar left behind 23 cents in change. He apparently exited through a rear door, which was left open, police said.

A would-be burglar made an unsuccessful attempt to break into the Thrifty City store in the Thorofare Plaza early Sunday, police reported. The unidentified person ripped a piece of plywood from a door on the east side of the structure, causing slight damage, but evidently was frightened away before gaining entry, officers said.

Kenneth Fife of 1621 St. Clair Ave. told police early Saturday afternoon an assortment of tools was stolen from his 1965 half-ton pickup truck while it was parked in the garage at his home between 7 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday.

The thief took a metal box containing crescent wrenches, screw drivers, pliers and box wrenches. He also took a flashlight and broke off the gear shift lever and knob from the truck's steering column, Fife said.

Herbert Patton of Thompson Pl. told police Saturday night at 11:30 two radios were stolen by an intruder who gained entry to his home some time Saturday afternoon through a door on the west side of the home.

Holiday Dinner Held By Wellsville Press

Twenty-three attended a holiday dinner for Wellsville Press staff members, correspondents and guests Sunday night at the Seventh Day Adventist Church of East Liverpool.

C. L. Weaver of Washington Ave. was presented a plaque for 46 years service to the Press and its newspaper predecessors in Wellsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fowler, publishers, were host and hostess. Glenn Waight, editor of The Review, spoke. Miss Shirley Allen introduced correspondents. Fowler was master of ceremonies.

Still Winners

NEW DELHI (AP) — Why are there so many big landlords in India even after legislation fixing ceilings on land holdings? "The answer is simple," said Damodaran Sanjivayya, a former president of the ruling Congress party: "It is because in India those who possess land are cleverer than those who have enacted the laws."

Cherokee Scouts Set Roundtable

About 150 more boys are needed to meet the 2,200 goal by the end of December, Phillip Nelson, district executive said.

Mobile Plans Protest Over Showing Of Film

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Today was a proclaimed day of mourning in Mobile as a protest by city officials against an Alabama Supreme Court ruling that the controversial film "The Fox" could be shown here.

Mayor Lambert C. Mims said the court's ruling was another slap at local government in that it nullifed a city ordinance against the showing of obscene movies.

"The Fox" protrays a lesbian relationship.

Thief Obtains Coins In City Office Entry

A thief escaped with a box containing an undetermined amount of change in a weekend burglary at the office of the Potters Adjustment Bureau in the Brookes Building at W. 5th and Market Sts., police reported.

The entry occurred between noon Saturday and 6:58 p.m. Sunday. It was discovered by Miller Carter of 1185 Pennsylvania Ave., a janitor in the building. Mrs. Carl McVay of 1012 Waterloo St., an employe of the agency, went to the office to check on the loss after she was notified by police.

Entry was gained by breaking a lock on the front door. The entire office was ransacked, but it was not determined if anything else was missing, officers said. The burglar left behind 23 cents in change. He apparently exited through a rear door, which was left open, police said.

A would-be burglar made an unsuccessful attempt to break into the Thrifty City store in the Thorofare Plaza early Sunday, police reported. The unidentified person ripped a piece of plywood from a door on the east side of the structure, causing slight damage, but evidently was frightened away before gaining entry, officers said.

Kenneth Fife of 1621 St. Clair Ave. told police early Saturday afternoon an assortment of tools was stolen from his 1965 half-ton pickup truck while it was parked in the garage at his home between 7 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. Saturday.

The thief took a metal box containing crescent wrenches, screw drivers, pliers and box wrenches. He also took a flashlight and broke off the gear shift lever and knob from the truck's steering column, Fife said.

Herbert Patton of Thompson Pl. told police Saturday night at 11:30 two radios were stolen by an intruder who gained entry to his home some time Saturday afternoon through a door on the west side of the home.

Holiday Dinner Held By Wellsville Press

Twenty-three attended a holiday dinner for Wellsville Press staff members, correspondents and guests Sunday night at the Seventh Day Adventist Church of East Liverpool.

C. L. Weaver of Washington Ave. was presented a plaque for 46 years service to the Press and its newspaper predecessors in Wellsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Fowler, publishers, were host and hostess. Glenn Waight, editor of The Review, spoke. Miss Shirley Allen introduced correspondents. Fowler was master of ceremonies.

Still Winners

NEW DELHI (AP) — Why are there so many big landlords in India even after legislation fixing ceilings on land holdings? "The answer is simple," said Damodaran Sanjivayya, a former president of the ruling Congress party: "It is because in India those who possess land are cleverer than those who have enacted the laws."

Cherokee Scouts Set Roundtable

The year's membership drive of the Columbiana County Boy Scout Council will be discussed during a roundtable session of the Cherokee District Committee Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Ohio Power Co. office here.

About 150 more boys are needed to meet the 2,200 goal by the end of December, Phillip Nelson, district executive said.

The Polar Bear camp Jan. 8-10 also will be outlined.

Mobile Plans Protest Over Showing Of Film

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Today was a proclaimed day of mourning in Mobile as a protest by city officials against an Alabama Supreme Court ruling that the controversial film "The Fox" could be shown here.

Mayor Lambert C. Mims said the court's ruling was another slap at local government in that it nullifed a city ordinance against the showing of obscene movies.

"The Fox" protrays a lesbian relationship.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

A 'House Radical' Speaks Up

"I'm the 'house radical' here at Universal," says producer-director-writer Leslie Stevens, whose rather gutsy script, "The Black Answer," is to be seen Friday as an episode of Universal and NBC's "Name of the Game" series.

Hal Humphrey

"Actually, Universal doesn't mind my doing one like this on the black militants, so long as I keep coming up with the custard, too. I wouldn't do 'The Black Answer' every week anyway, because we'd lose our audience," adds Stevens.

WE WERE discussing the fact that a great many TV producers are doing "Negro stories" this season, not out of any sense of responsibility, but simply because it's the fad. Naturally Stevens doesn't include himself in this category.

"The Negroes realize they're in vogue now and already are asking what will happen next season," reports Stevens. "Personally, I don't believe they will let producers off that easily. If their progress doesn't continue in TV, then I predict we'll have strikes or some other kind of action by militant actors."

Should there be a major black-versus-white blowup in this country, however, Stevens says the TV producers would be among the first to back away from doing any more stories about Negroes and casting them in TV roles.

"AND THIS 'cooling it' where the Negro is concerned would cause a conflict between sponsors and the networks. The sponsors might agree with the producers, but the networks must stand by the Negroes," Stevens states.

He has more faith in the networks than I have. Commercial TV is an advertising medium, after all, and in any big crisis the networks aren't likely to forget it.

In his "The Black Answer" script, which Stevens also produced and directed, a black newsman and friend of Jeff Dillon (Tony Franciosa) is killed by a fire bomb, and a black militant leader is accused of his murder. Stevens believes this is the first time a TV drama series has dealt with the subject of black militants.

"I TALKED OVER the idea with NBC's program manager in Hollywood, Stan Robertson, who happens to be a Negro, and he thought it was fine if handled properly. I was happy when he saw the final script and liked it," Stevens says.

Before writing it, Stevens read the writings of Malcom X and Eldridge Cleaver and generally steeped himself in research of the black militant movement. He already had his credentials as a successful dramatist from Broadway, the movies and TV's old "Playhouse 90."

In addition to "The Black Answer," Stevens has another "Name of the Game" (he's producing the eight episodes starring Franciosa) which deals with a Negro mayor (played by Ivan Dixon, who is the black militant in "The Black Answer"). The mayor script is titled "The Incomparable Connie Walker" and is not racist, Stevens says, although the mayor in this case is framed.

STEVENS also has been thinking of a story for the series which would hinge on the student rebellions at some of our universities, and he says he would try to tell the truth about them or, if he did have to slant his script, "I'd try to slant it toward what would reconcile the different sides of the conflict".

But it doesn't look as if Stevens will do this script. Even the "house radical" at Universal has to come to heel where budget is concerned.

"A university background means 200 or 300 extras in a lot of the scenes, and this is just too tough on the budget. afraid I won't be able to handle it," says Stevens, sadly but firmly.

A 'House Radical' Speaks Up

"I'm the 'house radical' here at Universal," says producer-director-writer Leslie Stevens, whose rather gutsy script, "The Black Answer," is to be seen Friday as an episode of Universal and NBC's "Name of the Game" series.

Hal Humphrey

"Actually, Universal doesn't mind my doing one like this on the black militants, so long as I keep coming up with the custard, too. I wouldn't do 'The Black Answer' every week anyway, because we'd lose our audience," adds Stevens.

"How Are You?", a color film, was screened during the meeting of the Hancock-Brooke County Mental Health Society at Weirton General Hospital.

The society voted to purchase the film for use in its community mental health educational program.

Mrs. Audrey Litman, president, said it will be available for showing to high school students and adult community civic groups. Requests should be directed to Mrs. Lowell Austin of 3821 Marland Heights Rd., Weirton, chairman of the speaker's bureau.

Another film, "Who Cares About Janie?", also is available.

MRS. JENNIE Borza, financial secretary, announced 32 members and recent "In Memoriam" donations by Dr. and Mrs. Ray S. Greco. All individuals and organizations interested in the two-county mental health program are eligible for membership in the society, she pointed out.

John L. Sullivan, ways and means chairman, announced that the society will conduct the annual fund drive in 1969, to be assisted by members of the Weirton Lodge of B'Nai B'Rith.

Mrs. E. M. Clubb Jr. reported for the Mental Health Service. Patients and collateral visits to the service in October totaled 155. There were 15 cancelled appointments.

The cases included 33 children, 111 adults and 11 collateral visits. Some 140 patients were received for therapy and 4 for testing, with 113 patients from Hancock County, 55 from Brooke County and 2 from the county contacts.

Training Given In Resuscitation By Heart Group

Visiting nurses and city public health nurses from three counties were guests of the Heart Association of Easter Ohio during a professional education program in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation at the main office in Youngstown.

CPR is a life-saving technique which is a combination of mouth-to-mouth breathing and external compression on the chest which forces the blood through the heart and up to the brain. This is an emergency measure used to keep the brain oxygenated till the heart resumes its natural beating. Only qualified teachers were giving instructions.

The association is attempting to reach all those people who will be most likely to have need of this emergency procedure.

Dr. William H. Bunn Jr., president of the association and chief of medicine of the Youngstown Hospital Association, conducted the program, which included films and slides showing the nurse's role in helping a person needing cario-plumonary resuscitation.

Shirley Tyson of Salem City Hospital and Ruth Eldridge of Youngstown South Side Hospital served as instructors.

Among those participating in the program were Ruth Kaufman of Lisbon, Columbiana County health nurse, and Caroline Limestahl, Salem city health nurse.

Little Beaver Creek Studied For Role In 'Scenic Rivers'

LISBON — Sections of Little Beaver Creek in eastern Columbiana County are among 27 rivers under consideration for inclusion in the national wild and scenic rivers system.

The November issue of "Sierra Club Bulletin" discusses the scenic rivers bill, signed Oct. by President Johnson, along with public laws setting up a Redwood National Park, a North Cascades National Park and a National Trails System.

The Sierra Club, with headquarters in San Francisco, was founded in 1892 and works for the protection of national scenic resources, particularly in the mountain regions.

Portions of eight rivers are in the system initially:

The middle fork of the Clearwater and the middle fork of the Salmon, both in Idaho; the Rogue, Oregon; Rio Grande, New Mexico; Wolf, Wisconsin; St. Croix, Wisconsin - Minnesota; Eleven Point, Missouri, and middle fork of the Feather, California.

Portions of two other Ohio streams — the Little Miami and the Maumee — are among the rivers named as potential additions to the system. Studies are to be completed within 10 years.

Rivers in the system are classified "wild," "scenic" or "recreational." Lands within the system are safeguarded from sale or disposal under public land laws, from mineral entry or leasing, and from application of the Federal Power Act, thus exempting them from consideration as dam sites.

Other rivers or portions of rivers under consideration for inclusion in the national wild and scenic rivers system include the Allegheny, Clarion, Delaware, Pine Creek and Youghiogheny, all in Pennsylvania.

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Ding Dong changes his mind about capturing Santa, but he tricks him into going to Hippieville so the hippies can see that Santa isn't a square.

CHAPTER 7

There was a misshapen old dwarf named Hesekiah whose only interest in life was the invention of a machine to take the place of people.

He had been working on his invention for 400 years, but he hadn't gotten any further than the discovery of a powerful salt that could turn people into spinning tops. This was just what Hesekiah wanted while he continued to work on his machine to take the place of people.

BEFORE he turned people into spinning tops, Hesekiah thought it would be a good idea to try out his salt on some creatures who were like people but still not exactly people. That is to say — elves and fairies and such folk.

Hesekiah thought, "What better place to go than Santa Land?" There would be a lot of creatures he could turn into tops. More important, there were well-equipped workshops where he could continue to work on his machine to take the place of people.

Hesekiah arrived in Santa Land at the very moment Santa and Ding Dong flew off to Hippieville. This was unfortunate for Santa Land because it so happened that Santa knew the one hing in the world that would stop Hesekiah and turn him into a nothing.

With Santa out of the way things were easy for Hesekiah. He opened his satchel and put on gloves and a hood that covered his head with only two tiny slits to see through. He took out a long blow pipe and carefully filled it with three cupfuls of salt. The pipe was one of his inventions. It had a round bowl with tiny holes in the bottom and a long stem to blow through.

HESEKIAH sneaked up on Santa's porch and knocked. Mrs. Claus came to the door.

"Goodness!" she cried. "Are you another hippie?"

For answer Hesekiah stuck the stem of the pipe in his mouth and blew. The salt in the bowl showered over poor Mrs. Claus.

She threw up her hands in surprise and began to spin in a circle. As she spun faster and faster she grew smaller and smaller until she was a very small top, fat in the middle and pointed on the end, spinning away in a pool of salt on the floor.

Hesekiah rushed to the doll shops where the elves were making dolls that could talk and walk and some that could even file their nails.

Hesekiah flung open the door and blew on his pipe with all his might. The salt sprayed over the astonished elves. In two seconds they were tiny tops spinning madly around the unfinished dolls.

Hesekiah went to the wagon shop and the sport shop and the electric train shop and the dollhouse shop and even to the reindeer stables. Everywhere he went he turned the creatures into spinning tops. Finally there was no one left in Santa Land except the wicked Hesekiah.

He put away his pipe and discarded his gloves and hood and boots, being careful that no salt should get on his skin.

Then he went to the master tool shop where no one was ever allowed except Santa himself. There Santa kept his finest tools and all his books of instruction on how to make things.

Hesekiah locked and bolted the door. He said to himself gleefully, "Here I will stay until I have built my machine to take the place of people."

Nominations Close Today In USW Race

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The incumbent president of the United Steelworkers Union may be faced by two opponents for the first time is the union's history as nominations end today for the USW election.

Challenging President I. W. Abel are Emil Narick, a lawyer at the union's international headquarters, and William Litch of Youngstown, Ohio.

Candidates for the Feb. 11 ballot must obtain nominations from at least 126 of the union's 3,600 locals stretched across the United States and Canada.

A campaign spokesman for Abel said he and his running mates, Joseph P. Molony, vice president, and Walter J. Burke, secretary-treasurer, have more than 400 endorsements.

Narick also claims to have exceeded the 126-nomination mark, but Litch says he's uncertain how many he has.

Noted Pilot Dies

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Henry Tift Myers, personal pilot for Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, died Sunday at 61 after being hospitalized with a heart condition. Recalled to Army duty during World War II, Myers was a flying chauffer for many of the world's leaders.

Could Delay Moon Shot

Space Officials Checking Crash Of Training Craft

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The crash Sunday of a spider - like craft designed to teach pilots how to land on the moon may have been an "unassessable setback" to America's man-to-the-moon program, a space official said.

The training vehicle, a bug-like craft which darts and hovers in an artificially created one-sixth earth gravity similar to the moon's, crashed after developing wildly uncontrollable twisting and swaying motions.

The pilot, Joseph Algrant, ejected and parachuted to safety. Algranti; a test pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was unhurt.

Paul Haney, director of public affairs at the NASA spacecraft center, said the crash of the $1.8 million Lunar Landing Training Vehicle—LLTV—may have been "an unassessable setback" to the lunar landing project, "but to what degree is anybody's guess."

"We'll have to figure the effect on an over-all training program," Haney said. "The flight was to have been the last major test before the craft was used for astronaut training."

An accident investgation board, headed by astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., convened shortly after the accident but its report is not expected for some itme.

Astronaut Neil Armstrong was at the controls of a similar craft last May when it went out of control. He parachuted to safety, suffering minor injuries. The craft crashed and exploded.

NASA officals said Algranti was four minutes into a six-minute flight when the craft developed a "hammock-like action" and went out of control. Algranti was descending from 550 feet and ejected at about 200 feet, officals said.

A board investigating Armstrong's crash said it resulted from an inadequate warning system which failed to tell the pilot early enough that he was losing fuel pressure in one rocket system. The late warning did not leave Armstrong time to respond properly.

The LLTV which crashed Sunday included changes in equipment which the board recommended as a result of the earlier crash.

Algranti a 43-year-old ex-Navy pilot, was chairman of the board which investigated the earlier flight. He made the first flight of the LLTV following that crash and has made more than 30 such flights. The craft which crashed had been flown successfully 14 times.

The LLTV is a wingless platform housing turbofan and thruster jets. The turbofan gives lift equal to five-sixths the vehicle's weight. The remaining one-sixth simulates the moon's gravity. Pilots use the jet thrusters to hover and maneuver the craft, simulating a landing on the moon.

Bell Aerosystems developed the LLTV under a $5.6-million contract. NASA has two of the craft remaining.

The accident investigation board Sunday viewed film and video tape of the flight and crash of the LLTV. The board's report is not expected to be complete for some weeks.

Fire Chief Issues Warning On Yule Trees, Decorations

A tree can be as dangerous as a fire bomb if proper safety precautions are not used, he cautioned.

Trees that are bought early should be left outside the house or stored in a cold garage until shortly before Christmas. The trunk should be cut diagonally so that it can absorb water more freely. Place the tree in water until it is taken into the house for trimming.

TREES cannot be made flameproof, but they can be made flame retardant, the chief says. The solution for treating them consists of 9 ounces of borax, 4 ounces of boric acid and a gallon of water. Spray the top and bottom of the branches. After this has dried, apply a second application.

The chief also warned against the use of strings of colored electric lights on metallic trees. Use only off-the-tree decorative spotlights or non-electric decorations, he said.

Metallic trees conduct electricity and should the strings of lights develop a short circuit, the entire tree would become charged.

Use of non-flammable or fire resistant decorations and ornaments is urged. Be careful of foil icicles which may dangle into light sockets and use of any combustible materials should be avoided where possible, he continued.

"Dispose of gift wrappings, tissue and dry evergreens promptly. Warn against smoking near trees because a small ash could cause the branches to ignite," he went on.

THE CHIEF also cautioned parents to make sure the toys they purchase for their children are safe.

"Safety awareness can prevent sorrows that result from tragic accident," VanDyne concluded.

New Quarters Ready For 3 Ape Families

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — It will be an unusual moving day for three Atlanta families Tuesday.

Three orangutan families are to be lodged in new quarters at the Grant Park Zoo after being transferred from Emory University's Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center.

"We want to see how three orang mothers and their babies will interact socially while living together as a community," said John Roth, zoo director.

The monkey quarters at Emory were too small for the test, he explained.

It is the first time the zoo has put any of these rarest of great apes on public display.

Pipe-Gun Registered

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A pipe-shaped gun, which can fire a .22-caliber bullet as well as be smoked, was among the weapons registered in Provdence with the Internal Revenue Service under a new law, a spokesman said Sunday.

Belgium has two official languages because the Walloons speak a French dialect called Walloon and the Flemings speak Flemish, which is much like Dutch and German.

This is the one we struck out on

This house is one in a thousand. For every one of these, 999 homes in this area can be economically converted to electric heat. That's one reason why the switch to flameless electric heat is breaking all records. People who have it are comparing their bills for electric heat against their former fuel bills and are telling their friends it cost (1) "about the same," (2) "a fraction more" or, (3) "a little less." If you're beginning to think your home could be converted and heated inexpensively with electric heat, the chances are 999 out of a thousand you're right. Let us prove it. Get a free estimate.

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Ding Dong changes his mind about capturing Santa, but he tricks him into going to Hippieville so the hippies can see that Santa isn't a square.

There was a misshapen old dwarf named Hesekiah whose only interest in life was the invention of a machine to take the place of people.

He had been working on his invention for 400 years, but he hadn't gotten any further than the discovery of a powerful salt that could turn people into spinning tops. This was just what Hesekiah wanted while he continued to work on his machine to take the place of people.

BEFORE he turned people into spinning tops, Hesekiah thought it would be a good idea to try out his salt on some creatures who were like people but still not exactly people. That is to say — elves and fairies and such folk.

Hesekiah thought, "What better place to go than Santa Land?" There would be a lot of creatures he could turn into tops. More important, there were well-equipped workshops where he could continue to work on his machine to take the place of people.

Hesekiah arrived in Santa Land at the very moment Santa and Ding Dong flew off to Hippieville. This was unfortunate for Santa Land because it so happened that Santa knew the one hing in the world that would stop Hesekiah and turn him into a nothing.

With Santa out of the way things were easy for Hesekiah. He opened his satchel and put on gloves and a hood that covered his head with only two tiny slits to see through. He took out a long blow pipe and carefully filled it with three cupfuls of salt. The pipe was one of his inventions. It had a round bowl with tiny holes in the bottom and a long stem to blow through.

Hesekiah arrived in Santa Land.

HESEKIAH sneaked up on Santa's porch and knocked. Mrs. Claus came to the door.

"Goodness!" she cried. "Are you another hippie?"

For answer Hesekiah stuck the stem of the pipe in his mouth and blew. The salt in the bowl showered over poor Mrs. Claus.

She threw up her hands in surprise and began to spin in a circle. As she spun faster and faster she grew smaller and smaller until she was a very small top, fat in the middle and pointed on the end, spinning away in a pool of salt on the floor.

Hesekiah rushed to the doll shops where the elves were making dolls that could talk and walk and some that could even file their nails.

Hesekiah flung open the door and blew on his pipe with all his might. The salt sprayed over the astonished elves. In two seconds they were tiny tops spinning madly around the unfinished dolls.

Hesekiah went to the wagon shop and the sport shop and the electric train shop and the dollhouse shop and even to the reindeer stables. Everywhere he went he turned the creatures into spinning tops. Finally there was no one left in Santa Land except the wicked Hesekiah.

He put away his pipe and discarded his gloves and hood and boots, being careful that no salt should get on his skin.

Then he went to the master tool shop where no one was ever allowed except Santa himself. There Santa kept his finest tools and all his books of instruction on how to make things.

Hesekiah locked and bolted the door. He said to himself gleefully, "Here I will stay until I have built my machine to take the place of people."

Nominations Close Today In USW Race

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The incumbent president of the United Steelworkers Union may be faced by two opponents for the first time is the union's history as nominations end today for the USW election.

Challenging President I. W. Abel are Emil Narick, a lawyer at the union's international headquarters, and William Litch of Youngstown, Ohio.

Candidates for the Feb. 11 ballot must obtain nominations from at least 126 of the union's 3,600 locals stretched across the United States and Canada.

A campaign spokesman for Abel said he and his running mates, Joseph P. Molony, vice president, and Walter J. Burke, secretary-treasurer, have more than 400 endorsements.

Narick also claims to have exceeded the 126-nomination mark, but Litch says he's uncertain how many he has.

Noted Pilot Dies

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Henry Tift Myers, personal pilot for Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman, died Sunday at 61 after being hospitalized with a heart condition. Recalled to Army duty during World War II, Myers was a flying chauffer for many of the world's leaders.

Could Delay Moon Shot

Space Officials Checking Crash Of Training Craft

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The crash Sunday of a spider - like craft designed to teach pilots how to land on the moon may have been an "unassessable setback" to America's man-to-the-moon program, a space official said.

The training vehicle, a bug-like craft which darts and hovers in an artificially created one-sixth earth gravity similar to the moon's, crashed after developing wildly uncontrollable twisting and swaying motions.

The pilot, Joseph Algrant, ejected and parachuted to safety. Algranti; a test pilot for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was unhurt.

Paul Haney, director of public affairs at the NASA spacecraft center, said the crash of the $1.8 million Lunar Landing Training Vehicle—LLTV—may have been "an unassessable setback" to the lunar landing project, "but to what degree is anybody's guess."

"We'll have to figure the effect on an over-all training program," Haney said. "The flight was to have been the last major test before the craft was used for astronaut training."

An accident investgation board, headed by astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., convened shortly after the accident but its report is not expected for some itme.

Astronaut Neil Armstrong was at the controls of a similar craft last May when it went out of control. He parachuted to safety, suffering minor injuries. The craft crashed and exploded.

NASA officals said Algranti was four minutes into a six-minute flight when the craft developed a "hammock-like action" and went out of control. Algranti was descending from 550 feet and ejected at about 200 feet, officals said.

A board investigating Armstrong's crash said it resulted from an inadequate warning system which failed to tell the pilot early enough that he was losing fuel pressure in one rocket system. The late warning did not leave Armstrong time to respond properly.

The LLTV which crashed Sunday included changes in equipment which the board recommended as a result of the earlier crash.

Algranti a 43-year-old ex-Navy pilot, was chairman of the board which investigated the earlier flight. He made the first flight of the LLTV following that crash and has made more than 30 such flights. The craft which crashed had been flown successfully 14 times.

The LLTV is a wingless platform housing turbofan and thruster jets. The turbofan gives lift equal to five-sixths the vehicle's weight. The remaining one-sixth simulates the moon's gravity. Pilots use the jet thrusters to hover and maneuver the craft, simulating a landing on the moon.

Bell Aerosystems developed the LLTV under a $5.6-million contract. NASA has two of the craft remaining.

The accident investigation board Sunday viewed film and video tape of the flight and crash of the LLTV. The board's report is not expected to be complete for some weeks.

Fire Chief Issues Warning On Yule Trees, Decorations

A tree can be as dangerous as a fire bomb if proper safety precautions are not used, he cautioned.

Trees that are bought early should be left outside the house or stored in a cold garage until shortly before Christmas. The trunk should be cut diagonally so that it can absorb water more freely. Place the tree in water until it is taken into the house for trimming.

TREES cannot be made flameproof, but they can be made flame retardant, the chief says. The solution for treating them consists of 9 ounces of borax, 4 ounces of boric acid and a gallon of water. Spray the top and bottom of the branches. After this has dried, apply a second application.

The chief also warned against the use of strings of colored electric lights on metallic trees. Use only off-the-tree decorative spotlights or non-electric decorations, he said.

Metallic trees conduct electricity and should the strings of lights develop a short circuit, the entire tree would become charged.

Use of non-flammable or fire resistant decorations and ornaments is urged. Be careful of foil icicles which may dangle into light sockets and use of any combustible materials should be avoided where possible, he continued.

"Dispose of gift wrappings, tissue and dry evergreens promptly. Warn against smoking near trees because a small ash could cause the branches to ignite," he went on.

THE CHIEF also cautioned parents to make sure the toys they purchase for their children are safe.

New Quarters Ready For 3 Ape Families

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — It will be an unusual moving day for three Atlanta families Tuesday.

Three orangutan families are to be lodged in new quarters at the Grant Park Zoo after being transferred from Emory University's Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center.

"We want to see how three orang mothers and their babies will interact socially while living together as a community," said John Roth, zoo director.

The monkey quarters at Emory were too small for the test, he explained.

It is the first time the zoo has put any of these rarest of great apes on public display.

Pipe-Gun Registered

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A pipe-shaped gun, which can fire a .22-caliber bullet as well as be smoked, was among the weapons registered in Providence with the Internal Revenue Service under a new law, a spokesman said Sunday.

Belgium has two official languages because the Walloons speak a French dialect called Walloon and the Flemings speak Flemish, which is much like Dutch and German.

Reds Protest Visit Of Ships To Black Sea

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Two destroyers of the U.S. 6th Fleet sailed through the Bosporus today for a five-day cruise along Turkey's Black Sea Coast. The Russians called the American naval visit to their southern doorstep a provocation, a threat to peace and Soviet security, and a violation of the 1936 Montreux Convention.

The 3,500-ton Dyess led the way through the narrow strait between the Sea of Marmara and the Black Sea. Her sister ship the Turner followed about an hour later.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia reported Sunday that its correspondent had seen the two destroyers pass through the Bosporus and slip "like thieves" into the landlocked Black Sea. But the ships anchored in the Sea of Marmara for the night, abiding by the provision of the Monreux Convention that bars transit of the strait after nightfall.

Izvestia claimed that the ships' passage through the Bosporus violated the Montreux Convention regulating use of the strait because the two destroyers were equipped with missiles capable of delivering nuclear weapons and because the convention bars ships of any nation at war.

Turkish and American officials rejected the Soviet charges and said the ships were making a routine visit that was in conformity with the convention.

The Turksh Foreign Ministry said the Russians "had some compaints, but Turkey rejected them since the passage is entirely in conformity with the Montreux Convention." The convention allows non-Black Sea powers to send "light surface vessels" of under 30,000 tons into the Black Sea.

Turksh newspapers viewed the desroyers' visit as a demonstration of American naval strength occasioned by the steady Soviet naval buildup in the Mediterranean during the past year. The Russians now have about 60 warships in the Mediterranean, a sea where previously the U.S. 6th Fleet was unchallenged.

East Chilled By Arctic Air

By The Associated Press

The pileup of arctic air continued to chill the eastern half of the nation today, sending its icy winds into the Deep South and spreading snow over the Northeast.

Freezing temperatures also dominated the intermountain regions of the West while the coastal storm dampened the north and central Pacific coast with windswept rain that turned to snow in the mountains of Washington and Oregon. Gale warnings were flying along the northern Pacific beaches.

In the South, a hard freeze gripped Georgia and Alabama with predawn temperatures in the 20s and frost glistened along Florida's northern borders.

Cold air sweeping eastward over the Great Lakes picked up moisture from the relatively warm water and dumped it as snow over the Appalachians. Pittsburgh absorbed an additional four inches late Sunday and up to a foot of snow is expected in the mountains of Maryland and Virginia today.

Snow also dusted the north-central border states but most of the nation, except for the extreme South and the Southwest, shivered under clear skies.

Tests Slated On Star Craft

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Stargazer, the heaviest and most complex scientific spacecraft ever launched by the United States, sped through space today as flight controllers prepared a series of tests on its star-tracking equipment.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Sunday the spacecraft, Orbiting Astronomical Observatory 2, was functioning properly.

"Everything's fine. The satellite is in good shape," the NASA spokesman said.

Scientists planned today to exercise a major component of OAO's control system, the six trackers designed to acquire selected guide stars for use in aiming the craft's telescopes.

The craft's 11 telescopes are scheduled to be switched on Wednesday.

Trucker, 41, Given Penalty On 2 Charges

A 41-year-old trucker was fined $57.50 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he pleaded guilty to two charges filed by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

William R. Biggins of 138 Wood St., East Palestine, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of operating a vehicle with an insecure load and $32.50 and costs on a charge of hauling a cargo that was 1,800 pounds over the legal maximum.

The patrol cited Biggins Wednesday at 11:35 a. m. on Route 7 on the overweight charge. He was arrested on the insecure load charge Friday at 11:15 a. m., also on Route 7. The patrol alleged Biggins was operating a coal-laden semi-trailer and chunks of coal were falling from the bed onto the highway.

Meanwhile, Charles W. Musgrove, 20, of Post Office Box 451, Chester, was fined $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way when making a left turn. He was cited by the patrol Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. on State Route 45.

The court ordered a bench warrant for Bernard A. Lovejoy, 18, of 940 Kent St., who failed to appear on a charge of failure to dim his headlights for oncoming traffic. He was cited by the patrol Saturday at 1:08 a. m. on old Route 30.

William Straight, 18, of 928 Denver St. paid a fine of $10 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of crashing a traffic signal at St. Clair and Lincoln Aves. He was cited Wednesday at 7:40 a. m.

Charles V. Barnes of 1657 Park Ave. was fined $10 and costs on a charge he crashed a traffic signal at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. He was arrested Saturday at 7 a. m. by Patrolman Bruce Conkle. Raymond E. Reed of Girard forfeited a $27.50 bond for speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Freeway. He was cited Friday at 5:35 p.m. by Patrolman James Woods.

Lisbon Mishaps Blamed On Snow

LISBON — No one was injured or cited in four traffic accidents Sunday on snowy streets, police report.

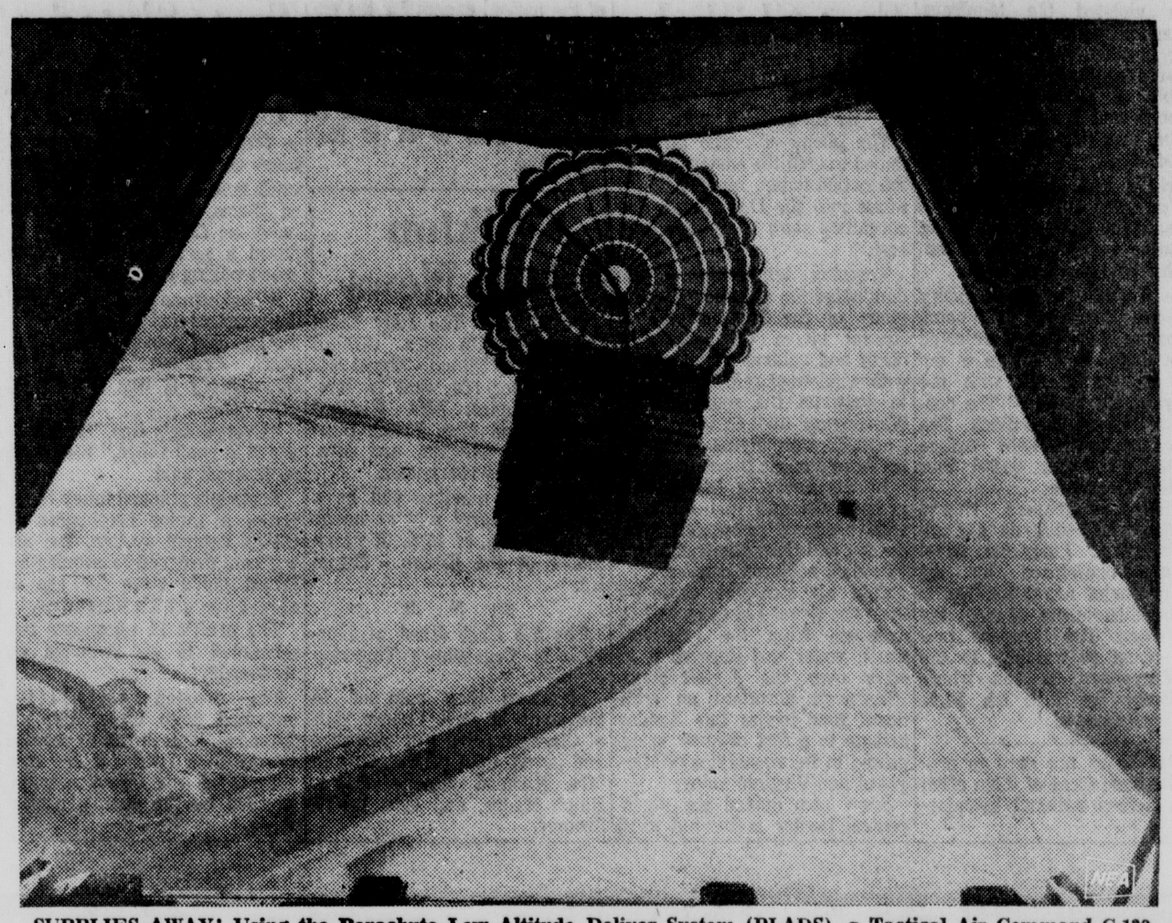

They said Scott E. Kauffman, 16, of Lisbon skidded at 12:30 a.m. in turning from Jackson St. onto E. Lincoln Way and struck a utility pole.

Clyde A. Fickes, 65, of Wellsville skidded on E. Park Ave. on the Square at 1:30 p. m. and knocked down a parking meter.

Thomas R. Wiggers, 24, of Lisbon lost control of his car at 6:35 p. m. while turning south onto Jackson St. from Lincoln Way and slid into the left side of a northbound sedan driven by Meredith C. Schreffler, 47, of Lisbon RD 4.

Cars driven by James H. May, 23, of Lisbon RD 4 and Fred Crawford, 37, of 1730 Anderson Blvd., East Liverppol, sideswiped on the Square at 8:40 p. m. Police said May was driving west on Lincoln Way and skidded as he turned north onto Market St. His car struck the side of Crawford's southbound sedan.

The name "pinks" for carnations is derived from the verb "pink," meaning to puncture or pierce. The flowers were so - called on account of the jagged edges of their petals.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A physicist says the Apollo 8 moon orbital mission is an unwarranted gamble. An astronaut who will fly the mission says he's willing to take the chance.

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, assistant laboratory director of the team that developed the atomic bomb, said in a magazine interview the project should be delayed until there is some way to assist Apollo 8 if it becomes stranded in space during its Christmas flight.

But Astronaut Frank Borman, speaking at a news conference in Houston, Tex., Saturday said, "As I look at it, it's something like a combat tour in Vietnam.

"The risks we take are acceptable ones. We have to accept them to believe it's worthwhile. If I ever feel it's not worthwhile, then I'll quit."

British astronomer Sir Bernard Lovell of Jodrell Bank Observatory had said earlier Apollo 8 poses "undue risks to human life."

Lapp said in an interview for the Dec. 14 issue of "The New Republic" magazine the oxygen in the ship could keep the three astronauts alive for only two weeks and no other craft is available yet to go to their rescue.

If the engine fails, the astronauts would be "unable to get out and fix the engine. They are completely dependent on that engine firing."

Marlow Cook of Kentucky, Robert Dole of Kansas and Richard S. Schweiker of Pennsylvania, appearing together on ABC's "Issues and Answers" Sunday, matched the praise for Bliss generated by the Republican governors conference in Palm Springs, Calif., Saturday.

"I think he's done a good job and should be retained," said Schweiker.

"I'm on his side," said Cook.

President elect Richard M. Nixon has not said so far whether he favors keeping Bliss in the post.

LISBON — Approximately 325 attended a Christmas concert presented Sunday afternoon at the high school by the junior high and high school bands under the direction of David May, instrumental instructor.

The vocal department of Lisbon schools will present a Christmas program at 3 p.m. Sunday in the gymnasium. Leonard Welch is the instructor.

Hearing Planned In Check Charge

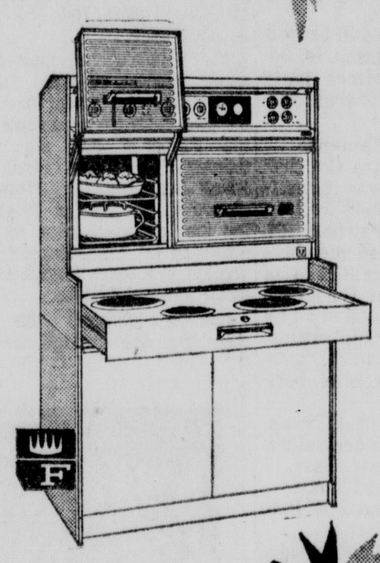

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Thursday morning for Mrs. Howard D. Springer of 715 Laura Ave., accused of cashing a $50 check on Jan. 9 at the Loblaw Supermarket on Dresden Ave. when she knew she did not have sufficient funds on deposit to cover the amount for which the check was drawn.

Mrs. Springer told the court she "could not be guilty" of the charge because she was in City Hospital at the time awaiting delivery of a baby. She said she entered the hospital Jan. 6 and was released eight days later.

The affidavit shows it was signed last Friday by Ronald Crognale, manager of the market. The affidavit says the check was drawn on the Potters Bank and Trust Co. Ordering the continuance in the case, the court advised Mrs. Springer to obtain counsel to defend herself.

Outside Ladders Require Care To Avert Accidents

AP Newsfeatures

In those parts of the country where the weather remains reasonably mild throughout the winter, outside ladders are utilized for all the usual purposes—painting, staining, caulking, roof repairing and such general maintenance chores.

Where cold weather is getting ready to move in or already has done so, the exterior ladder is needed for cleaning gutters and downspouts of accumulated leaves and other debris in order to prevent snow and ice from jamming up in the months ahead.

Whatever its purpose, the outside ladder must be handled properly to prevent accidents.

This begins with placement of the ladder against the house at the proper angle. To get this balance, the bottom of the ladder should be a specific distance away from the house. That specific distance is one-fourth the length of the ladder.

Thus, when placing a 12-foot ladder against the house, see that the bottom of it is 3 feet from the house. Other things to insure safety in handling and working on an outside ladder are:

1.—If the ground on which the ladder rests is soft, place a wide, solid board under the legs, then stand on the bottom rung and jump up and down on it a few times to be sure the board is firmly placed.

2.—If the ground is hard, the feet of the ladder should be equipped with safety treads or one of the other devices designed to prevent slipping.

3.—Where there is even the slightest doubt about the solidity of the setup, use roof ladder hooks, which fasten onto the high rungs of the ladder and hook over the roof ridge.

4.—Forget about using the ladder when there is a strong wind.

5.—Before putting up the ladder, examine it for structural defects. Such defects can be hidden by paint, so be sure that you use only a clear finish on the ladder.

6. — Never go higher than the second step from the top of the ladder; working from the third step from the top is even better.

7. — Don't try to show how strong you are by shifting the position of long, heavy ladders. Get someone to help you.

8.—When working in front of a door, either keep it wide open or lock it.

9. — Don't work on the ladder when children are playing nearby. Statistics show that a considerable percentage of ladder accidents occur when children bump into ladder bases.

10.—While on the ladder, don't reach out too far on either side; the shifting of weight may cause the ladder to slide.

Whitish Coating On Wall Bricks Causes Problem

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We have a low, brick wall on either side of the driveway leading to our house. When we first moved in about a year ago, many of the bricks had a whitish coating on them.

I was told that this was something called efflorescence and that it could be removed with a solution of one part of muriatic acid to six parts of water.

It was quite a job, but I finally managed to scrub off the white deposits. Now, however, to my great dismay, the efflorescence has returned; not as much as before, but enough to be unsightly. What did I do wrong?

ANSWER: You removed the symptoms, but you failed to eliminate the cause. Efflorescence is caused by the presence of moisture in the wall. This moisture dissolves salts. Both come to the surface. When the water evaporates, the salts remain and form a deposit.

To correct the trouble, therefore, you must prevent water from getting inside the wall. In a brick wall this usually means patching all places where mortar is loose or crumbling.

In some cases, it is necessary to apply a water-resistant coating which is clear and will not give the bricks a new color. Therefore, if you decide to get rid of the efflorescence a second time, be sure you also take steps to prevent water from getting inside the wall.

And for the benefit of anyone else who may wish to utilize the muriatic acid solution, remember that it must be handled very, very carefully.

In making the mixture, pour the acid into the water a little at a time and very slowly. Wear gloves and glasses, exercise much caution and, if even a drop gets on you, wash it instantly with large quantities of water.

QUESTION: We are having a house built in a section of the country where it is always warm regardless of the season of the year. Is it necessary to use insulation?

Answer: Most definitely, yes. Insulation keeps out heat as well as cold.

Outside Ladders Require Care To Avert Accidents

AP Newsfeatures

In those parts of the country where the weather remains reasonably mild throughout the winter, outside ladders are utilized for all the usual purposes—painting, staining, caulking, roof repairing and such general maintenance chores.

Where cold weather is getting ready to move in or already has done so, the exterior ladder is needed for cleaning gutters and downspouts of accumulated leaves and other debris in order to prevent snow and ice from jamming up in the months ahead.

Whatever its purpose, the outside ladder must be handled properly to prevent accidents.

This begins with placement of the ladder against the house at the proper angle. To get this balance, the bottom of the ladder should be a specific distance away from the house. That specific distance is one-fourth the length of the ladder.

Thus, when placing a 12-foot ladder against the house, see that the bottom of it is 3 feet from the house. Other things to insure safety in handling and working on an outside ladder are:

1.—If the ground on which the ladder rests is soft, place a wide, solid board under the legs, then stand on the bottom rung and jump up and down on it a few times to be sure the board is firmly placed.

2.—If the ground is hard, the feet of the ladder should be equipped with safety treads or one of the other devices designed to prevent slipping.

3.—Where there is even the slightest doubt about the solidity of the setup, use roof ladder hooks, which fasten onto the high rungs of the ladder and hook over the roof ridge.

4.—Forget about using the ladder when there is a strong wind.

5.—Before putting up the ladder, examine it for structural defects. Such defects can be hidden by paint, so be sure that you use only a clear finish on the ladder.

6.—Never go higher than the second step from the top of the ladder; working from the third step from the top is even better.

7.—Don't try to show how strong you are by shifting the position of long, heavy ladders. Get someone to help you.

8.—When working in front of a door, either keep it wide open or lock it.

9.—Don't work on the ladder when children are playing nearby. Statistics show that a considerable percentage of ladder accidents occur when children bump into ladder bases.

10.—While on the ladder, don't reach out too far on either side; the shifting of weight may cause the ladder to slide.

Whitish Coating On Wall Bricks Causes Problem

AP Newsfeatures

Question: We have a low, brick wall on either side of the driveway leading to our house. When we first moved in about a year ago, many of the bricks had a whitish coating on them.

I was told that this was something called efflorescence and that it could be removed with a solution of one part of muriatic acid to six parts of water.

It was quite a job, but I finally managed to scrub off the white deposits. Now, however, to my great dismay, the efflorescence has returned; not as much as before, but enough to be unsightly. What did I do wrong?

ANSWER: You removed the symptoms, but you failed to eliminate the cause. Efflorescence is caused by the presence of moisture in the wall. This moisture dissolves salts. Both come to the surface. When the water evaporates, the salts remain and form a deposit.

To correct the trouble, therefore, you must prevent water from getting inside the wall. In a brick wall this usually means patching all places where mortar is loose or crumbling.

In some cases, it is necessary to apply a water-resistant coating which is clear and will not give the bricks a new color. Therefore, if you decide to get rid of the efflorescence a second time, be sure you also take steps to prevent water from getting inside the wall.

And for the benefit of anyone else who may wish to utilize the muriatic acid solution, remember that it must be handled very, very carefully.

In making the mixture, pour the acid into the water a little at a time and very slowly. Wear gloves and glasses, exercise much caution and, if even a drop gets on you, wash it instantly with large quantities of water.

QUESTION: We are having a house built in a section of the country where it is always warm regardless of the season of the year. Is it necessary to use insulation?

Answer: Most definitely, yes. Insulation keeps out heat as well as cold.

Firewomen Unable To Raise Heavy Door

COOL, Calif. (AP) — Because the 10 Cool firewomen lack manpower to hoist the firehouse door, it has always lain on the ground outside. "Even if the firemen ever got around to installing the door, it would be too heavy for firewomen to open," said Ruth White, 52, a firewoman.

Now the solution may be near: A car left the highway and knocked down Jennie Niegel's front fence, hurling one of the posts through the firehouse door.

The fire lassies say they hope the motorist's insurance will pay for a new, lightweight door.

Smallest Quad Dies Sunday In Hospital

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One of the quadruplets born to James and Lorraine Gallion died Sunday in the County-University of Southern California Medical Center.

The tiniest of the quadruplets, a girl, who weighed one pound, 11 ounces at birth last Friday, was "just too small to make it," a hospital spokesman said.

The other three infants—two girls and a boy—were reported in satisfactory condition. The largest weighed 2 pounds, 11 ounces at birth.

Gallion, 28 and his wife, 22, have two other sons. They live in suburban Sylmar.

Ohio Man Saved

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Fireman Bruce L. Kopowski, 22, of Kent, Ohio, was identified by the Coast Guard Sunday as one of three men rescued from the Mississippi River after the buoy tender White Alder and freighter Helena collided Saturday. Seventeen Coast Guardsmen were reported missing.

Navy Divers Seek Bodies Of Boat Crew

WHITE CASTLE, La. (AP) —Divers today search by touch in the sunken White Alder for bodies of 17 crewmen missing since a collision with a freighter sent the Coast Guard buoy tender 75 feet to the bottom of the Mississippi River near here.

The shoreline and river search for the men continued. It began shortly after the 133-foot vessel was hit by the Nationalist Chinese freighter Helena Saturday sight.

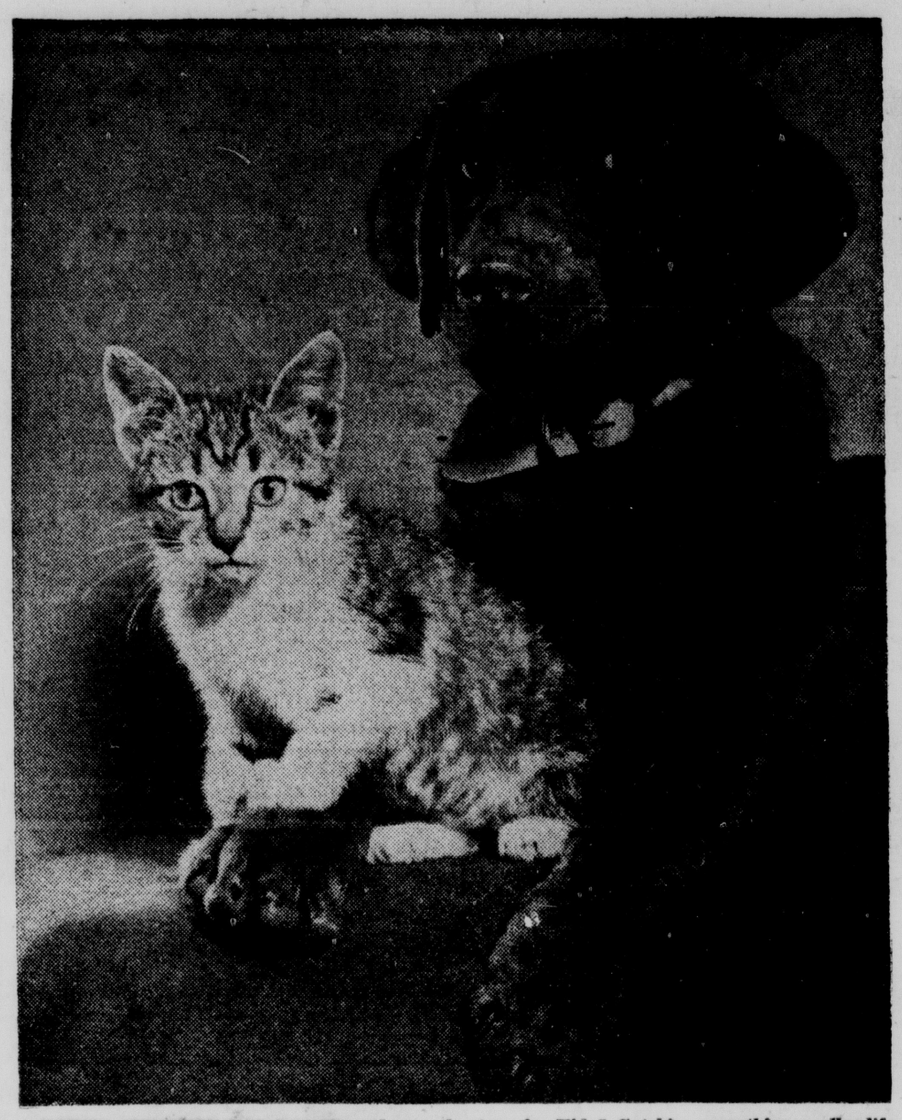

Three of the 20-man crew were plucked from the river but no trace of the others was found.

After hours of dragging operations, the White Alder was located Sunday when three large cannister buoys from the vessel rose to the surface, giving away its resting place.

The boat was grappled from the surface and marked with buoys.

Operations were suspended pending the arrival of a Navy diving team and its tons of equipment. Lt. Philip Sage said a decision was made not to send scuba divers down Sunday because of choppy waters and the possibility that other buoys would break free and come rushing to the surface.

No official word was given on the possibility of more survivors, but a Coast Guardsman said privately that little hope was held since no contact had been made in the search.

BORED WITH BUYING BONES and squeaky toys for Fido? Get him something really different for Christmas—say, a kitten. Contrary to common opinion, dogs make friends with all kinds of other folk—rabbits, birds, cats, skunks, raccoons, etc. For a Christmas present that really demonstrates peace on earth, try a little pet-mixing.

14 Area Traffic Mishaps Are Reported By Patrol

Fourteen accidents were investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon Sunday as roads were made hazardous by the first heavy snowfall of the season. Only three occurred in this area.

A Minerva woman was treated at City Hospital Sunday for injuries received in a two-car accident on Route 30, just south of the Route 7 junction at 4:16 p.m.

Keith Ira Davis, 38, of 1014 Bradshaw, driving a 1958 coach, approached the stop sign at the end of the exit ramp on Route 30, went through the stop sign and collided with a 1967 sedan operated by Donald Parson, 68, of Minerva.

Mrs. Parson suffered contusions of the forehead and a sprain of the right ankle. She was treated and released at the hospital.

In a one - car accident Sunday on the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd., about 2 miles east of Route 170, Sherman P. Rohr, 69, of 149 Beechwood lost control of his 1963 station wagon. It went off the north side of the road, striking a fence.

Damage to the station wagon was moderate. The accident occurred at 9:45 a.m.

There were no injuries in a truck - car accident on Route 267 at 11:20 a.m. Paul N. Seckman of the Air Beacon Rd., RD 1, lost control of his 1956 pickup truck on an ice - covered bridge about a mile south of Route 30, and the truck went left of center, striking the 1965 coach operated by Joseph D. Cunningham of Russel Rd.

Seckman was cited for improper speed. Both vehicles suffered moderate damage.

Saturday the driver in a one-car accident complained of injuries, but was not treated.

Maxe Linville, 35, of Valley Dr. was driving on Parkway Ave. Ext. when he lost control of his 1963 convertible and it went off the east side of the road and struck a utility pole. The accident was timed at 3:45 p.m.

An area man was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way on a public highway as the result of a two-car accident on Route 267, about a mile north of the city limits, at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

Alvin Gilbert, 42, of Lisbon St. was waiting to pull onto the roadway from a private drive when his 1965 station wagon was struck by a car operated by June Delores McVay, 47, of 9th Ave., LaCroft.

No one was injured in a two-car accident on Parkway Ave. Ext. about 15 feet north of the City Limits at 10 p.m. Saturday.

Chimney Hoods Keep Out Rain; 3 Types Offered

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

Not many chimneys require a hood or cover to prevent rain from dripping down through them, but when a chimney does need protection, it usually need it badly.

Most chimneys do not require a cover because the flue opening is not large in the average case and the rain or snow which does hit the opening evaporates before it can get very far down. In general, those that need a cover are larger than ordinary.

There are several different types of chimney hoods — the flat, metal - plate type, supported by corner braces; flat cement slab or slate slab, supported by brick corners, and the metal thimble type, which has a tie section set at right angles to the thimble. Any one of these is quite effective in preventing water dripping down to the hearth.

There are some precautions to be observed when equipping a chimney with a cover. Probably the first and most important is to see that the cover is not too close to the flue opening. At least eight inches is the average minimum. If the cover is closer than that, it is liable to cause back pressure and result in smoking at the fireplace.

Another precaution is that of security. The cover must be strongly fastened to prevent blowing off or, worse yet, to keep it from becoming loose and partly closing the flue. Because the cover is situated where it is difficult to get at, it should have at least three coats of good, heavy exterior paint if it is made of metal. This should guarantee that it will not need repainting for several years.

Search Goes On For Poison Pins

CHICAGO (AP) — Sears, Roebuck & Co. officials are continuing a nationwide search for 300 to 400 pieces of costume jewelry, which are decorated with a poisonous tropical bean that could cause death if swallowed.

A Sears spokesman, Ernest L. Arms, Sunday urged buyers of the $1 pins to return them to the store where they were purchased.

Arms estimated that 31 pins imported from Japan by a New York firm were sold to customers in the Chicago area and more than 300 nationwide through 138 Sears outlets in at least 110 cities.

A Food and Drug Administration spokesman in Washington said Sears received 200 boxes, each containing 48 pins. About 12 pins in each box were decorated wtih the deadly jequirity bean.

The FDA spokesman said some 30 other firms also received one or two boxes each, but there was no way of knowing whether the deadly pins were placed on sale.

The jewelry is made in two designs, a clown face with beans for eyes and a flower with a bean in the center.

Girl Hospitalized In 3-Way Crash

Darlene Conger, 17, daughter of Denzil Conger of Gladys Ave., LaCroft, remains in "satisfactory" condition at Osteopathic Hospital, where she was admitted following a three - car crash Friday at 7:15 p.m. on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd.

Wellsville police said the accident occurred in front of the Pancake House when David Palmer, 18, driving a 1967 sedan, applied his brakes and traveled broadside into a halted 1964 station wagon operated by Wesley L. Ammons, 67, of 1323 Center St., Wellsville, which then struck a 1966 coach driven by Herman Mathes, 64, of 322 Campground Rd., Wellsville.

Miss Conger, a passenger in the Palmer car, suffered fractures of the left upper arm. Mrs. Freda Mathes, a passenger in her husband's car, was treated at City Hospital for a spine injury and contusions to the right lower leg.

Palmer was fined $25 and costs Saturday by Mayor William Daugherty for failure to have his vehicle under control.

Trustees In Franklin Discuss Road Project

SUMMITVILLE — Acting at the request of Elmer Ramsey, Franklin Township trustees agreed Saturday afternoon to investigate the possibility of improving the approach to Route 644 from a township road.

Ramsey told the trustees the township road's approach to the intersection is on a grade formed by a small hollow. He said a motorist using the township road is required to halt for a stop sign on the grade. A bridge in the hollow is the dividing line between East Township in Carroll County and Franklin Township, which lies in Columbiana County, so any improvement would involve both counties and both townships.

Forrest Thompson, president of the trustees, reported slag is being stockpiled. Bills paid totaled $2,037. The next meeting will be Dec. 21.

7 Hurt In Traffic Mishaps In Southern Beaver County

Seven district residents were injured in three traffic accidents in the South Side Beaver County area Sunday morning and Saturday night, the Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa reported.

Charles Henderson, 18, of Georgetown RD 1 and two passengers, Ronald Cooper, 16, of Hookstown RD 1 and Charles Reed, 16, of Georgetown RD 1 received minor injuries when Henderson's pickup truck skidded into guardrails along Route 168 south of Georgetown Saturday night.

The truck, owned by Matt Stipiec Jr. of Chester, received $700 damage, officers said.

Police said Henderson lost control of the truck while headed south, and it went off the roadway and struck two guardrails.

Reed, son of Jeremiah Reed, was treated at City Hospital for a cut on the nose and lip and abrasions of the knee. Cooper, son of William Cooper, was treated for a laceration of the forehead.

The mishap occurred at 11:25.

Casper E. Olson, 72, of Aliquippa was treated at Aliquippa General Hospital for lacerations of the forehead received when his 1956 coupe and another car collided head-on on Route 30 in Hanover Township Saturday at 8 p. m.

Police said his car went over the center line and struck an oncoming auto operated by Ernest Torres, 47, of 848 Virginia Ave., Midland. Torres' 1964 sedan received an estimated $600 damage and Olson's car $1,000.

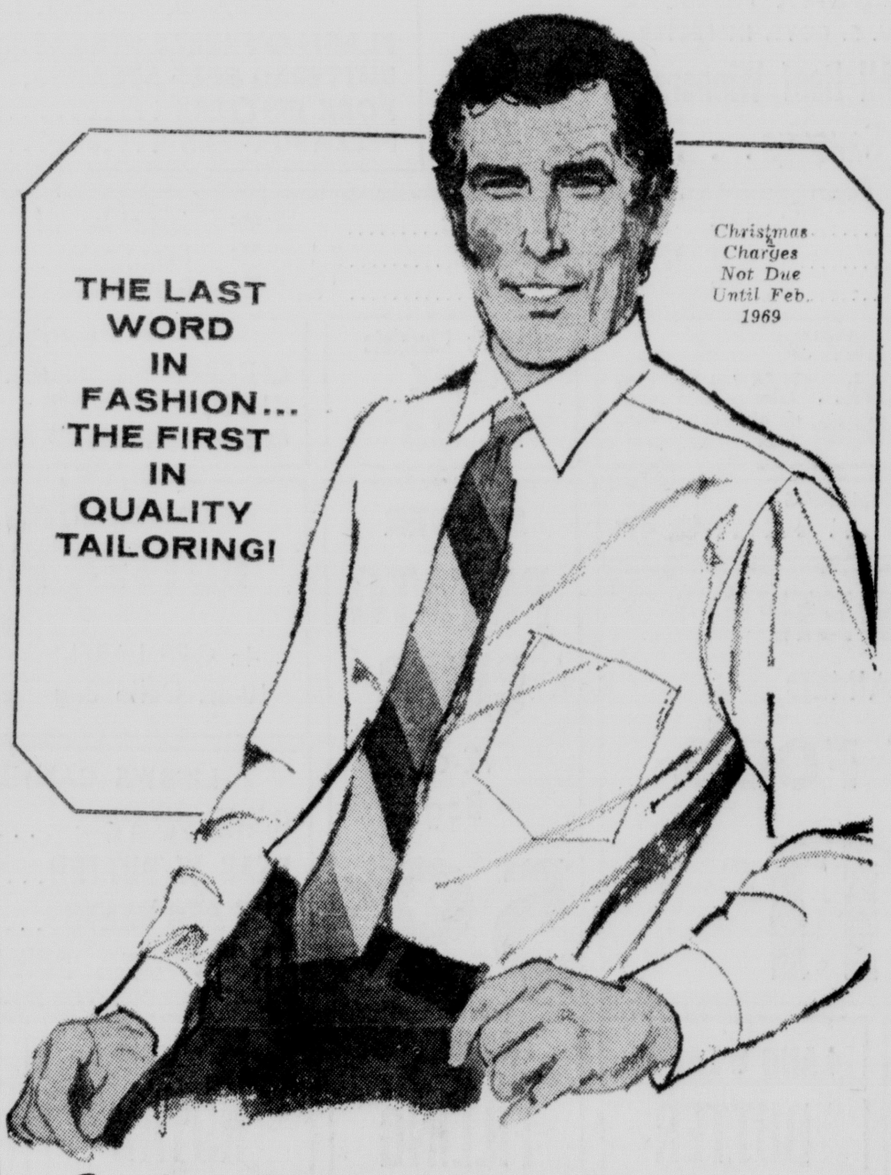

Steve Hubanek Jr., 20, of Beaver Falls suffered abrasions when his convertible skidded on Route 168 near Hookstown and struck a utility pole Sunday morning at 2. The car received about $600 damage.

Hubanek and three passengers were treated at City Hospital. He received bruises of the elbow, Linda Coulter of Beaver Falls suffered abrasions of the knees, Barbara Zitzman of Rochester received abrasions of the feet and John Pavlos of Beaver Falls was treated for abrasions of the legs.

Each Type House Has Advantages

AP Newsfeatures

Don't let anyone advise you on whether to buy an old or a new house unless he knows, down to the last detail, what it is you want in a home.

Like almost everything else you buy that requires you to make a choice, there are advantages and disadvantages to both new and old houses.

Once you match those advantages and disadvantages to the things that are most important to your family, you are in a position to decide the kind of house to purchase.

A NEW house will give you the virtues of new construction materials and building techniques. The plumbing fixtures will be easier to operate and are likely to cause you no trouble for many years to come.

You can choose room arrangements that suit your own taste rather than those of a previous owner. And the chances are that your maintenance costs will be minimal for some time.

But, if the development is in a new or growing neighborhood, your taxes may increase every year as schools and other facilities are built.

And it will be quite a while before your landscaping is arranged the way you want it. Also, you risk the possibility that the neighborhood will change in character in the years ahead.

An old house will include a number of extras that would have cost you a considerable sum had you added them to a new home.

The chances are the landscaping has been done and will need only the usual attention. If it's a settled neighborhood and has been that way for a number of years, it is not likely to change.

BUT YOU'LL have to put aside a certain amount of money every year for repairs. The decor may not suit you and it will cost you money to redecorate.

And, since lending institutions will give you a larger mortgage on a new house, you will have to make a larger down payment to swing the transaction on an old house.

The purchaser who isn't quite sure whether he wants a new or old house will be wise to look at both kinds.

Usually, he will find that he gets more in an old house for the same amount of money. But —to a woman especially—this may not be as important as life in a new house, where everything is sparkling clean and where there are modern improvements designed for what is known as gracious living.

Should you use a real estate broker to assist you in finding the right house? If you decide a new house, you don't need a broker. If an old house, you're usually better off to have one.

Once you outline your requirements and desires to him, he can save you a lot of time and trouble by showing you only houses which fit somewhere into that category.

Solution Offered To Panel Leaks

AP Newsfeatures

Question: Several months ago I put corrugated fiber glass panels on the wooden framework over our back patio. I guess I didn't do a very good job, because it now is beginning to leak in several places. What can I do about this? I hope you don't tell me to take down the panels.

Answer: When properly installed, this type of panel will not leak, unless the surface has been punctured by some heavy or sharp object.

The leaks, therefore, are undoubtedly coming from one of three places where proper installation procedures were not followed. In hammering nails through the panels into the wood framework, did you first drill small holes to prevent the fiber glass from chipping, cracking or splitting? Did you use the recommended flashing at the points where the panels meet the side of the house? And did you apply the proper mastic in the areas where the panel corrugations overlapped?

Neglecting any of these steps could cause immediate or later trouble. Your best bet now is to inspect the paneling carefully and find just what is causing the leaks, then go to the dealer who sold you the panels and tell him the whole story. Ask him to give you the mastic and other materials necessary to do a patching job.

QUESTION: How can I replace a damaged section of a cold water pipe running along the ceiling of our basement?

Answer: First, a caution. Be sure your local regulations permit you to make such a repair. If you are permitted to do it, the trick which works best for non-professionals is to replace the pipe with two pieces which add up to the length of the damaged section.

After shutting off the water, cut the damaged pipe with a hacksaw about 6 inches from a joint. Unscrew the short length, then unscrew the long length from the other joint. Get identical pieces from your dealer, plus a union. Replace one piece of pipe, add the union to the open end, then screw in the other piece of pipe and bring the two parts together with the union. Coat all threads with pipe compound before doing this.

Each Type House Has Advantages

AP Newsfeatures

Don't let anyone advise you on whether to buy an old or a new house unless he knows, down to the last detail, what it is you want in a home.

Like almost everything else you buy that requires you to make a choice, there are advantages and disadvantages to both new and old houses.

Once you match those advantages and disadvantages to the things that are most important to your family, you are in a position to decide the kind of house to purchase.

A NEW house will give you the virtues of new construction materials and building techniques. The plumbing fixtures will be easier to operate and are likely to cause you no trouble for many years to come.

You can choose room arrangements that suit your own taste rather than those of a previous owner. And the chances are that your maintenance costs will be minimal for some time.

But, if the development is in a new or growing neighborhood, your taxes may increase every year as schools and other facilities are built.

And it will be quite a while before your landscaping is arranged the way you want it. Also, you risk the possibility that the neighborhood will change in character in the years ahead.

An old house will include a number of extras that would have cost you a considerable sum had you added them to a new home.

The chances are the landscaping has been done and will need only the usual attention. If it's a settled neighborhood and has been that way for a number of years, it is not likely to change.

BUT YOU'LL have to put aside a certain amount of money every year for repairs. The decor may not suit you and it will cost you money to redecorate.

And, since lending institutions will give you a larger mortgage on a new house, you will have to make a larger down payment to swing the transaction on an old house.

The purchaser who isn't quite sure whether he wants a new or old house will be wise to look at both kinds.

Usually, he will find that he gets more in an old house for the same amount of money. But—to a woman especially—this may not be as important as life in a new house, where everything is sparkling clean and where there are modern improvements designed for what is known as gracious living.

Should you use a real estate broker to assist you in finding the right house? If you decide a new house, you don't need a broker. If an old house, you're usually better off to have one.

Once you outline your requirements and desires to him, he can save you a lot of time and trouble by showing you only houses which fit somewhere into that category.

Solution Offered To Panel Leaks

AP Newsfeatures

Question: Several months ago I put corrugated fiber glass panels on the wooden framework over our back patio. I guess I didn't do a very good job, because it now is beginning to leak in several places. What can I do about this? I hope you don't tell me to take down the panels.

Answer: When properly installed, this type of panel will not leak, unless the surface has been punctured by some heavy or sharp object.

The leaks, therefore, are undoubtedly coming from one of three places where proper installation procedures were not followed. In hammering nails through the panels into the wood framework, did you first drill small holes to prevent the fiber glass from chipping, cracking or splitting? Did you use the recommended flashing at the points where the panels meet the side of the house? And did you apply the proper mastic in the areas where the panel corrugations overlapped?

Neglecting any of these steps could cause immediate or later trouble. Your best bet now is to inspect the paneling carefully and find just what is causing the leaks, then go to the dealer who sold you the panels and tell him the whole story. Ask him to give you the mastic and other materials necessary to do a patching job.

QUESTION: How can I replace a damaged section of a cold water pipe running along the ceiling of our basement?

Answer: First, a caution. Be sure your local regulations permit you to make such a repair. If you are permitted to do it, the trick which works best for non-professionals is to replace the pipe with two pieces which add up to the length of the damaged section.

After shutting off the water, cut the damaged pipe with a hacksaw about 6 inches from a joint. Unscrew the short length, then unscrew the long length from the other joint. Get identical pieces from your dealer, plus a union. Replace one piece of pipe, add the union to the open end, then screw in the other piece of pipe and bring the two parts together with the union. Coat all threads with pipe compound before doing this.

Potters Win Cage Opener, Down Westinghouse 59-49

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

But it took a three-point play by John Johnson on a beautiful assist by Dan Cunningham and then a bizarre play by the Bulldogs to break open a close game in the final seconds of the third period.

Contrary to expectations, the Potters played a more deliberate style of offense than last season, working the ball in for close shots. Christian and Johnson set up as picks on either side of the foul lane and the other players cut off them, getting free for passes under the basket. The Potters handled the ball well, and committed only 10 turnovers to 18 by the visitors. The rebounds were even at 44 each. Christian led the Potters with 10, while 6-5 Darrell Brown had 13 and Eugene Harrel 11 for Westinghouse.

3-Point Play Key

The most distressing aspect of the Potter play, to coach Clint McConnell, was the defense. Westinghouse repeatedly got easy shots against the East Liverpool man-to-man, and outshot their hosts 41 per cent to 36 per cent. Both teams were mediocre from the foul line.

Brown led Ed Fleming's Bulldogs, now 1-1, with 20 points, while Leon Wallace and James Jones had 10 each. Guard Harold Tate did a good job of running the attack, and the losers were hurt when he fouled out in the third period.

McConnell was pleased with the way the team disciplined itself, and did not take the bad shot. He also had praise for the job Montgomery did in boxing Brown off the boards on defense.

Westinghouse was rarely ahead, 22-21 in the second period being the last time, but the Potters never had more than a six-point lead until the end of the third period, and the Bulldogs hung on tenaciously.

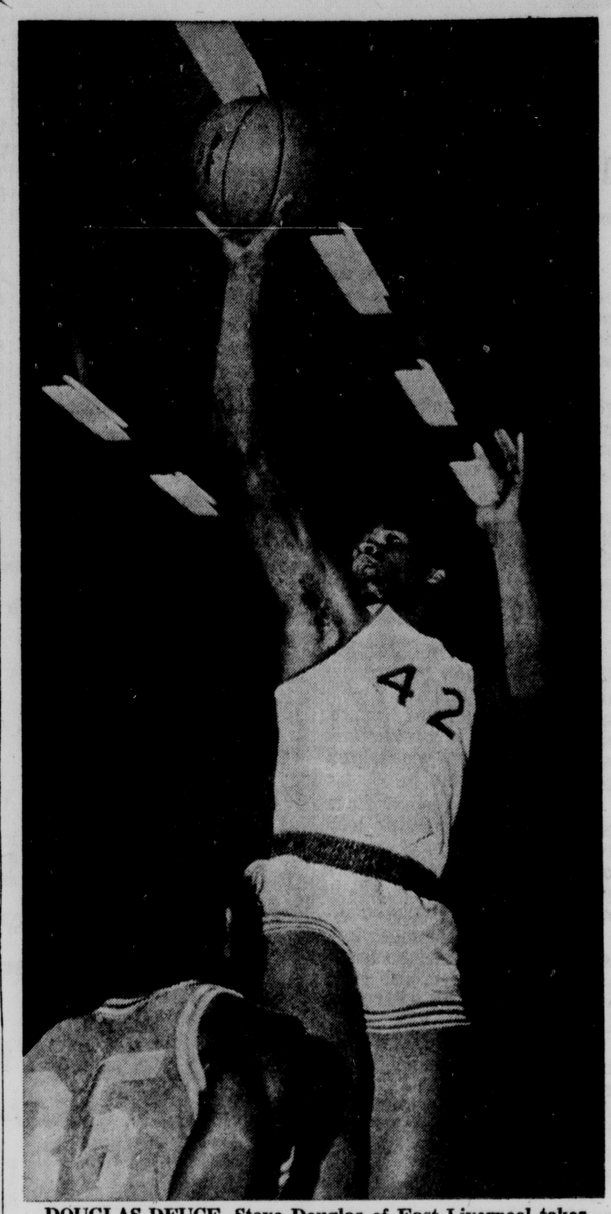

Johnson was getting clear underneath on numerous occasions, but not always getting the passes. With 37 seconds to go in the third period Cunningham found Johnson open and Johnson made the basket and converted a foul on the play to make it 44-40. On a jump ball shortly thereafter at the East Liverpool end, the tip went to Harrel, who fired a perfect jump shot — into the wrong basket. Montgomery then made a close shot to boost the lead to 48-40 at the end of the period.

Christian made a three-point play to start the fourth period, and the Potters went into a stall, maintaining at least an eight-point lead the rest of the game.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The new gym at East Liverpool High School is certainly a beauty.

It is so fresh, so clean, so neat and so light it seems almost a shame to dirty it by playing basketball there. It even smells new, like a new car (a different smell, of course). But like a new car it is designed to be used, and will quickly become familiar to its inhabitants. The 2,400-seat arena will surely last longer than most cars.

From a spectator point of view, the most favorable aspect is the plush theater-type seats, with arm-rests. The court is a regulation college-size floor, some eight-feet longer than the M.A. floor, which will cause a small drop in scoring, as it will take just a little longer to get from one end of the court to another. The one drawback, which was anticipated, is the parking and post-game traffic snarls.

Speaking of the deliberate style used by the Potters, coach Clint McConnell said, "It's not exciting for the fans, but the name of the game is to win." McConnell indicated that the team's style would change depending on opposition, and pointed out that Westinghouse's superior height made them a bad team to run against.

A CASUALTY of the current teacher unrest at East Liverpool High School is the wrestling team. Coach Joe Mowad is among those resigned at present, and the team is not practicing. The season was to have started last week.

Beavers Top Crestview For First Win Of Year

NEW WATERFORD — Beaver Local won its first basketball game in three tries this season with a 68-61 victory over Crestview here Saturday night.

Dave Mason was the big gun for the Beavers, scoring 31 points and pulling in 18 rebounds, despite sitting on the bench most of the second quarter with three fouls. Rick Squires added 13 points and Dave Doak 11 rebounds.

Crestview, which lost its first in four starts, was led by Keith Chamberlin's 15, Chip McConville's 14 and Dave Rankin's 10. Jerry Anderson grabbed 12 rebounds and Chamberlin 11.

The Rebels of Don Kaiser led 51-50 going into the final stanza, but Mason scored 12 points in the last eight minutes to spark the Beavers' winning surge. Mason scored a basket to put the Beavers ahead for good at 59-58.

Crestview outshot the Beavers 41 per cent to 39 per cent, but the forces of Lloyd Stockdale had a 49-34 edge in rebounding.

Tall Salem Kent St. Whips E. Liverpool

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

"Well, at least they left their 6-10 boy at home", said Merrill Hall of the Salem Kent State basketball team that was about to play his East Liverpool Kent team at the M.A. Saturday afternoon.

But Salem had plenty of height, and routed the locals 99-75, the fifth straight loss for East Liverpool. Salem is now 6-3.

Willie Brown, the 6-7 center for the visitors, led the way with 24 points and 19 rebounds. The forwards, 6-4 Ray Oesch and 6-3 Lou Taylor, contributed to a 71-54 rebounding edge over East Liverpool, which has no one over 6-2.

The halftime score was 60-30 and Salem played its second team most of the second half.

Mike Piatt led the losers with 21 points, Jim Reese added 18, Nick Lukacena had 12 and Dave Pridemore 10. Mark Powell had 12 rebounds and Piatt 10.

Salem's good-shooting guards, Gary Smith and Doug Plastow, had 22 and 20 points respectively, and Taylor added 14. In the first half Salem shot 59 per cent to 28 per cent for the losers. The final figures were 44 per cent and 35 per cent. The Salem starters shot 55 per cent, with Smith 10 of 16 and Plastow 8 of 14. They shot mainly from outside, though Smith scored on some excellent drives, while Brown got all his points from inside.

Potters Win Cage Opener, Down Westinghouse 59-49

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The East Liverpool High School basketball team inaugurated its antiseptic new gym Saturday night with a win that was less than surgically precise.

But it took a three-point play by John Johnson on a beautiful assist by Dan Cunningham and then a bizarre play by the Bulldogs to break open a close game in the final seconds of the third period.

Contrary to expectations, the Potters played a more deliberate style of offense than last season, working the ball in for close shots. Christian and Johnson set up as picks on either side of the foul lane and the other players cut off them, getting free for passes under the basket. The Potters handled the ball well, and committed only 10 turnovers to 18 by the visitors. The rebounds were even at 44 each. Christian led the Potters with 10, while 6-5 Darrell Brown had 13 and Eugene Harrel 11 for Westinghouse.

★ ★ ★ 3-Point Play Key ★ ★ ★

The most distressing aspect of the Potter play, to coach Clint McConnell, was the defense. Westinghouse repeatedly got easy shots against the East Liverpool man-to-man, and outshot their hosts 41 per cent to 36 per cent. Both teams were mediocre from the foul line.

Brown led Ed Fleming's Bulldogs, now 1-1, with 20 points, while Leon Wallace and James Jones had 10 each. Guard Harold Tate did a good job of running the attack, and the losers were hurt when he fouled out in the third period.

McConnell was pleased with the way the team disciplined itself, and did not take the bad shot. He also had praise for the job Montgomery did in boxing Brown off the boards on defense.

Westinghouse was rarely ahead, 22-21 in the second period being the last time, but the Potters never had more than a six-point lead until the end of the third period, and the Bulldogs hung on tenaciously.

Johnson was getting clear underneath on numerous occasions, but not always getting the passes. With 37 seconds to go in the third period Cunningham found Johnson open and Johnson made the basket and converted a foul on the play to make it 44-40. On a jump ball shortly thereafter at the East Liverpool end, the tip went to Harrel, who fired a perfect jump shot — into the wrong basket. Montgomery then made a close shot to boost the lead to 48-40 at the end of the period.

Christian made a three-point play to start the fourth period, and the Potters went into a stall, maintaining at least an eight-point lead the rest of the game.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The new gym at East Liverpool High School is certainly a beauty.

It is so fresh, so clean, so neat and so light it seems almost a shame to dirty it by playing basketball there. It even smells new, like a new car (a different smell, of course). But like a new car it is designed to be used, and will quickly become familiar to its inhabitants. The 2,400-seat arena will surely last longer than most cars.

From a spectator point of view, the most favorable aspect is the plush theater-type seats, with arm-rests. The court is a regulation college-size floor, some eight-feet longer than the M.A. floor, which will cause a small drop in scoring, as it will take just a little longer to get from one end of the court to another. The one drawback, which was anticipated, is the parking and post-game traffic snarls.

For the record, the first varsity field goal and points were scored by Leon Wallace of Westinghouse, while Dan Cunningham got the first Potter point and Rick Steffen the first Potter field goal.

Speaking of the deliberate style used by the Potters, coach Clint McConnell said, "It's not exciting for the fans, but the name of the game is to win." McConnell indicated that the team's style would change depending on opposition, and pointed out that Westinghouse's superior height made them a bad team to run against.

A CASUALTY of the current teacher unrest at East Liverpool High School is the wrestling team. Coach Joe Mowad is among those resigned at present, and the team is not practicing. The season was to have started last week.

The gymnastics team, a new sport at East Liverpool, is working out. The team has matches scheduled after the first of the year.

Beavers Top Crestview For First Win Of Year

NEW WATERFORD — Beaver Local won its first basketball game in three tries this season with a 68-61 victory over Crestview here Saturday night.

Dave Mason was the big gun for the Beavers, scoring 31 points and pulling in 18 rebounds, despite sitting on the bench most of the second quarter with three fouls. Rick Squires added 13 points and Dave Doak 11 rebounds.

Crestview, which lost its first in four starts, was led by Keith Chamberlin's 15, Chip McConville's 14 and Dave Rankin's 10. Jerry Anderson grabbed 12 rebounds and Chamberlin 11.

The Rebels of Don Kaiser led 51-50 going into the final stanza, but Mason scored 12 points in the last eight minutes to spark the Beavers' winning surge. Mason scored a basket to put the Beavers ahead for good at 59-58.

Crestview outshot the Beavers 41 per cent to 39 per cent, but the forces of Lloyd Stockdale had a 49-34 edge in rebounding.

Tall Salem Kent St. Whips E. Liverpool

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

"Well, at least they left their 6-10 boy at home", said Merrill Hall of the Salem Kent State basketball team that was about to play his East Liverpool Kent team at the M.A. Saturday afternoon.

But Salem had plenty of height, and routed the locals 99-75, the fifth straight loss for East Liverpool. Salem is now 6-3.

Willie Brown, the 6-7 center for the visitors, led the way with 24 points and 19 rebounds. The forwards, 6-4 Ray Oesch and 6-3 Lou Taylor, contributed to a 71-54 rebounding edge over East Liverpool, which has no one over 6-2.

The halftime score was 60-30 and Salem played its second team most of the second half.

Mike Piatt led the losers with 21 points, Jim Reese added 18, Nick Lukacena had 12 and Dave Pridemore 10. Mark Powell had 12 rebounds and Piatt 10.

Salem's good-shooting guards, Gary Smith and Doug Plastow, had 22 and 20 points respectively, and Taylor added 14. In the first half Salem shot 59 per cent to 28 per cent for the losers. The final figures were 44 per cent and 35 per cent. The Salem starters shot 55 per cent, with Smith 10 of 16 and Plastow 8 of 14. They shot mainly from outside, though Smith scored on some excellent drives, while Brown got all his points from inside.

East Liverpool was rarely able to work the ball inside and Piatt and Reese got their points at long range.

Rams, Packers Eliminated In NFL

Chiefs Eliminate Chargers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
ASssociated Press Sports Writer

Ever try to throw a football over a 10-story building and know where it's going? Quarterback John Hadl of the San Diego Chargers had a similar problem—throwing over the hulking, hard-charging Kansas City defensive line.

"Those guys 6-foot-7 look 100 feet tall when you try and throw over them," Hadl said Sunday.

Hadl managed to get the ball over them most of the time, but on six occasions it went into the hands of Kansas City players as the Chiefs trounced San Diego 40-3 and knocked the Chargers out of the Western Division race in the American Football League.

The victory kept the Chiefs, 11-2, in a first-place tie with the Oakland Raiders, who edged Denver 33-27. Kansas City is at Denver and Oakland at San Diego next weekend, and if both win, a playoff will be held in Oakland.

In other AFL action Sunday, the New York Jets, 10-3 and the Eastern Division champions, downed Cincinnati 3-11, 27-14 and Miami 5-7-1, blasted Boston 4-9, 38-7. Saturday, Houston, 6-7, ripped Buffalo 1-12-1, 35-6.

Buffalo's season-ending loss became a victory of sorts when Philadelphia won its second game to make the Bills' record the worst in pro football. Because of this record, Buffalo now will get the first shot at Southern California's O. J. Simpson in the combined college draft.

San Diego opened the scoring with a 28-yard field goal by Dennis Partee in the first period, but from then on the hometown crowd had little to cheer about.

One of Hadl's passes was grabbed by Kansas City linebacker Willie Lanier who rumbled 75 yards for a touchdown. Two other interceptions were followed by touchdown passes by Len Dawson—five yards to Gloster Richardson and seven yards to Mike Garrett. Dawson also connected on 68-yard scoring strike to Frank Pitts.

Kansas City also intercepted a Jon Brittenum pass, and the seven thefts gave the Chiefs 34 for the season, just one shy of a team record. The six interceptions put Hadl into the AFL record book with five other quarterbacks.

George Blanda kicked four field goals as Oakland came from a 17-7 deficit to beat Denver. Blanda's second field goal tied it at 20-20 and his third put the Raiders ahead to stay, 23-20. Daryle Lamonica's six-yard touchdown pass to Warren Wells gave the Raiders a 30-20 lead in the third period and clinched it.

Joe Namath's two touchdown passes, one by Babe Parilli and two field goals by Jim Turner led the Jets over Cincinnati, which closed out its first season.

Turner also converted after the touchdowns and his nine points gave him 138 for the season, tying him with Don Hutson for fifth in points scored in a single pro football season.

Cincinnati's Paul Robinson ran for 33 yards and became the first AFL rookie to gain 1,000 yards in a season. He finished with 1,023.

Bob Griese passed for two touchdowns and fullback Larry Csonka ran for two to pace Miami past Boston. Jim Nance scored on a 30-yard run for Boston.

Cleveland, Colts Take Divisions

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Colts watched Gabriel's nightmare—including a misplaced fourth down-unfold from a safe distance. But those big, bad Bears looked beautiful to them. Just beautiful.

The Bears, riddled by injuries earlier in the National Football League season, rose up Sunday to terrorize Gabriel and topple Los Angeles 17-16, handing Baltimore the Coastal Division title and keeping their own championship hopes alive.

The loss eliminated the Rams one week before their anticipated season-closing showdown with the Colts. The victory kept Chicago tied for first place with the Minnesota Vikings, who trimmed San Francisco 30-20, in the Central Division stretch race. The Bears take on Green Bay and the Vikings meet Philadelphia next Sunday.

Cleveland nailed the Century Division crown with a 24-21 victory over Washington; St. Louis downed New York 28-21; Dallas topped Pittsburgh 28-7; Detroit beat Atlanta 24-7 and Philadelphia outscored New Orleans 29-18 in other games.

The Eagles' second successive victory after 11 straight setbacks cost them the No. 1 pick . . . most likely Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson . . . in the upcoming college draft.

The Colts eliminated Green Bay's defending NFL champs 16-3 Saturday, then sat back and watched the Bears-Rams thriller on television along with a national video audience.

They saw Gabriel, the Rams' gifted quarterback, harassed by Chicago's fierce defenders and then knocked out of the game temporarily by a blind-side tackle in the second quarter.

With Gabriel on the sidelines, they saw the Bears seize a 10-7 lead after Clarence Childs' 88-yard kickoff return and move ahead 17-7 following Dick Butkus' interception of a Milt Plum pass.

Then they saw the Rams close the gap on a third quarter safety and Gabriel's three-yard scoring jaunt with 2:42 left in the game. They squirmed as the Rams mounted a last-ditch drive to the Chicago 32, within field goal range, with 24 seconds remaining.

Finally, they saw the drive fizzle . . . thanks to a 15-yard holding penalty and an apparent blunder by the officials. According to the official play-by-play sheet, the Rams were allowed three downs, instead of four, following the first-down infraction.

Before anyone, including the Rams, caught the mistake, the game was over . . . leaving Los Angeles out in the cold and the Colts limp, but exuberant.

"The Bears did a helluva job," said Johnny Unitas. "They got to Gabriel early and seemed to shake him up. I guess he was knocked dizzy. He didn't seem to call his game after that."

Bruins Rip Notre Dame; Tarheels Top Kentucky

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA and North Carolina, in their travels toward a head-on clash to decide the No. 1 college basketball team in the country, are having quite an impact on their followers.

Pointing toward a meeting in the finals of the Holiday Festival in New York after Christmas, the Uclans and Tar Heels ruined the rankings of Kentucky, No. 3, Notre Dame, No. 5, and Ohio State, No. 13, last week.

The Bruins still have home dates with Minnesota and West Virginia Dec. 20-21 and the Tar Heels must get by 12th-ranked Vanderbilt tonight and Clemson and Virginia Dec. 16-17.

UCLA, 3-0, protected its No. 1 spot with a successful run through the midwest that gave the Bruins 19 straight victories and 66 in their last 67 games. The Bruins, after pulling away from Ohio State 84-73 Friday night, rode past Notre Dame 88-75 on Lew Alcindor's tall shoulders. Bringing UCLA from behind an early deficit, Alcindor hit 14 of 18 field goal tries and finished with 29 points.

North Carolina, 3-0, surprisingly had an easier time against Kentucky at Lexington with Charlie Scott's 19 points pacing a balanced attack that built a 19-point second half lead and eventually a 87-88 victory.

Other followers lost to unheralded teams, promising a shake-up in the Top Ten behind UCLA and North Carolina.

Kansas, No. 4, trounced Chicago Loyola 93-61, but not until the Jayhawks had been upset by Wisconsin 67-62 earlier in the week. Houston, No. 6 with Davidson, beat Pepperdine and Arizona before dropping a 65-64 decision at Southern California.

Davidson raised its stock with surprisingly easy 101-84 rout over Vanderbilt. New Mexico, No. 8, beat Hawaii 63-56 and 77-62 Friday and Saturday; Cincinnati, No. 9, crushed North Dakota State 83-54, and Villanova, No. 10, another entry in the Holiday Festival, bombed Philadelphia Textile 94-74.

The only other games in the Top 20 to lose last week were Marquette, tied for 20th, to Minnesota 75-73, and Tennessee, also tied for 20th, to Iowa State 72-66.

Calvin Murphy of Niagara turned in the top individual performance of the young season, hitting 24 field goals and 20 free throws for 68 points in a 118-110 breeze past Syracuse Saturday night. He overshadowed a 41-point spree by Syracuse's Bill Smith. Pete Maravich, last season's scoring champion who hit 52 last Monday, notched 38 in Louisiana State's 86-85 squeaker over Clemson.

Chiefs Eliminate Chargers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
ASsociated Press Sports Writer

Ever try to throw a football over a 10-story building and know where it's going? Quarterback John Hadl of the San Diego Chargers had a similar problem—throwing over the hulking, hard-charging Kansas City defensive line.

"Those guys 6-foot-7 look 100 feet tall when you try and throw over them," Hadl said Sunday.

Hadl managed to get the ball over them most of the time, but on six occasions it went into the hands of Kansas City players as the Chiefs trounced San Diego 40-3 and knocked the Chargers out of the Western Division race in the American Football League.

The victory kept the Chiefs, 11-2, in a first-place tie with the Oakland Raiders, who edged Denver 33-27. Kansas City is at Denver and Oakland at San Diego next weekend, and if both win, a playoff will be held in Oakland.

In other AFL action Sunday, the New York Jets, 10-3 and the Eastern Division champions, downed Cincinnati 3-11, 27-14 and Miami 5-7-1, blasted Boston 4-9, 38-7. Saturday, Houston, 6-7, ripped Buffalo 1-12-1, 35-6.

Buffalo's season-ending loss became a victory of sorts when Philadelphia won its second game to make the Bills' record the worst in pro football. Because of this record, Buffalo now will get the first shot at Southern California's O. J. Simpson in the combined college draft.

San Diego opened the scoring with a 28-yard field goal by Dennis Partee in the first period, but from then on the hometown crowd had little to cheer about.

One of Hadl's passes was grabbed by Kansas City linebacker Willie Lanier who rumbled 75 yards for a touchdown. Two other interceptions were followed by touchdown passes by Len Dawson—five yards to Gloster Richardson and seven yards to Mike Garrett. Dawson also connected on 68-yard scoring strike to Frank Pitts.

Kansas City also intercepted a Jon Brittenum pass, and the seven thefts gave the Chiefs 34 for the season, just one shy of a team record. The six interceptions put Hadl into the AFL record book with five other quarterbacks.

George Blanda kicked four field goals as Oakland came from a 17-7 deficit to beat Denver. Blanda's second field goal tied it at 20-20 and his third put the Raiders ahead to stay, 23-20. Daryle Lamonica's six-yard touchdown pass to Warren Wells gave the Raiders a 30-20 lead in the third period and clinched it.

Joe Namath's two touchdown passes, one by Babe Parilli and two field goals by Jim Turner led the Jets over Cincinnati, which closed out its first season.

Turner also converted after the touchdowns and his nine points gave him 138 for the season, tying him with Don Hutson for fifth in points scored in a single pro football season.

Cincinnati's Paul Robinson ran for 33 yards and became the first AFL rookie to gain 1,000 yards in a season. He finished with 1,023.

Bob Griese passed for two touchdowns and fullback Larry Csonka ran for two to pace Miami past Boston. Jim Nance scored on a 30-yard run for Boston.

Duquesne Wins Steel Bowl

Bruins Rip Notre Dame; Tarheels Top Kentucky

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA and North Carolina, in their travels toward a head-on clash to decide the No. 1 college basketball team in the country, are having quite an impact on their followers.

Pointing toward a meeting in the finals of the Holiday Festival in New York after Christmas, the Uclans and Tar Heels ruined the rankings of Kentucky, No. 3, Notre Dame, No. 5, and Ohio State, No. 13, last week.

The Bruins still have home dates with Minnesota and West Virginia Dec. 20-21 and the Tar Heels must get by 12th-ranked Vanderbilt tonight and Clemson and Virginia Dec. 16-17.

UCLA, 3-0, protected its No. 1 spot with a successful run through the midwest that gave the Bruins 19 straight victories and 66 in their last 67 games. The Bruins, after pulling away from Ohio State 84-73 Friday night, rode past Notre Dame 88-75 on Lew Alcindor's tall shoulders. Bringing UCLA from behind an early deficit, Alcindor hit 14 of 18 field goal tries and finished with 29 points.

North Carolina, 3-0, surprisingly had an easier time against Kentucky at Lexington with Charlie Scott's 19 points pacing a balanced attack that built a 19-point second half lead and eventually a 87-88 victory.

Other followers lost to unheralded teams, promising a shakeup in the Top Ten behind UCLA and North Carolina.

Kansas, No. 4, trounced Chicago Loyola 93-61, but not until the Jayhawks had been upset by Wisconsin 67-62 earlier in the week. Houston, No. 6 with Davidson, beat Pepperdine and Arizona before dropping a 65-64 decision at Southern California.

Davidson raised its stock with surprisingly easy 101-84 rout over Vanderbilt. New Mexico, No. 8, beat Hawaii 63-56 and 77-62 Friday and Saturday; Cincinnati, No. 9, crushed North Dakota State 83-54, and Villanova, No. 10, another entry in the Holiday Festival, bombed Philadelphia Textile 94-74.

The only other games in the Top 20 to lose last week were Marquette, tied for 20th, to Minnesota 75-73, and Tennessee, also tied for 20th, to Iowa State 72-66.

Calvin Murphy of Niagara turned in the top individual performance of the young season, hitting 24 field goals and 20 free throws for 68 points in a 118-110 breeze past Syracuse Saturday night. He overshadowed a 41-point spree by Syracuse's Bill Smith. Pete Maravich, last season's scoring champion who hit 52 last Monday, notched 38 in Louisiana State's 86-85 squeaker over Clemson.

Dayton won its 17th straight with an 81-60 victory over Bowling Green.

Cleveland, Colts Take Divisions

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Colts watched Gabriel's nightmare—including a misplaced fourth down-unfold from a safe distance. But those big, bad Bears looked beautiful to them. Just beautiful.

The Bears, riddled by injuries earlier in the National Football League season, rose up Sunday to terrorize Gabriel and topple Los Angeles 17-16, handing Baltimore the Coastal Division title and keeping their own championship hopes alive.

The loss eliminated the Rams one week before their anticipated season-closing showdown with the Colts. The victory kept Chicago tied for first place with the Minnesota Vikings, who trimmed San Francisco 30-20, in the Central Division stretch race. The Bears take on Green Bay and the Vikings meet Philadelphia next Sunday.

Cleveland nailed the Century Division crown with a 24-21 victory over Washington; St. Louis downed New York 28-21; Dallas topped Pittsburgh 28-7; Detroit beat Atlanta 24-7 and Philadelphia outscored New Orleans 29-18 in other games.

The Eagles' second successive victory after 11 straight setbacks cost them the No. 1 pick . . . most likely Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson . . . in the upcoming college draft.

The Colts eliminated Green Bay's defending NFL champs 16-3 Saturday, then sat back and watched the Bears-Rams thriller on television along with a national video audience.

They saw Gabriel, the Rams' gifted quarterback, harassed by Chicago's fierce defenders and then knocked out of the game temporarily by a blind-side tackle in the second quarter.

With Gabriel on the sidelines, they saw the Bears seize a 10-7 lead after Clarence Childs' 88-yard kickoff return and move ahead 17-7 following Dick Butkus' interception of a Milt Plum pass.

Then they saw the Rams close the gap on a third quarter safety and Gabriel's three-yard scoring jaunt with 2:42 left in the game. They squirmed as the Rams mounted a last-ditch drive to the Chicago 32, within field goal range, with 24 seconds remaining.

Finally, they saw the drive fizzle . . . thanks to a 15-yard holding penalty and an apparent blunder by the officials. According to the official play-by-play sheet, the Rams were allowed three downs, instead of four, following the first-down infraction.

Before anyone, including the Rams, caught the mistake, the game was over . . . leaving Los Angeles out in the cold and the Colts limp, but exuberant.

"Fantastic!" echoed veteran defensive back Bob Boyd. "I'm a nervous wreck, completely wrung out. It's hell to watch. I'd rather play."

"The Bears did a helluva job," said Johnny Unitas. "They got to Gabriel early and seemed to shake him up. I guess he was knocked dizzy. He didn't seem to call his game after that."

Gabriel completed seven of 23 passes for 118 yards. His net passing yardage in the first half was zero.

'Bulletins' In Mailbags

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Being a vice president no longer makes you stand out very far from the crowd. America is getting to be a land of veeps. It is said there are now nearly half a million company vice presidents—a Gee Whiz item if true.

The more people ride around in cars, the bigger their feet seem to grow. The average shoe size for today's hulking young men is 10-D, a full size larger than the average of only a dozen years ago.

Speaking of automobiles, how many do you have and how old are they: Nearly one out of every four U.S. families now own two or more cars. Some six million vehicles still on the road are 12 years of age or over.

Once a pioneer shows the way, others are usually quick to follow. Only 103 years ago, so far as is known, an Englishman named Edward Whymper first accomplished the formidable feat of climbing the famous Alpine peak, the Matterhorn. In favorable weather today, says the National Geographic Society, about 60 persons a day successfully scale it.

How about giving the U.S. farmer a pat on the back? He's getting more efficient all the time. Powered by machinery now rather than by the help of a lop-eared mule, he is able to grow enough food to feed himself and 42 other people, something no other man in history has been able to do.

Quotable notables: "Always fall in love with what you're asked to accept. Take what is given, and make it over your own way. My aim in life has always been to hold my own with whatever's going. Not against: with."—Poet Robert Frost.

Seasonal: Holly sprigs were symbols of cheer long before Christmas was widely observed. Ancient Greeks carried the shrub to bring good luck, just as some people today keep a rabbit foot in their pocket, and Romans thought that holly planted around their homes would ward off lightning.

Signs of the times: Love seems to be a universal tongue. Those popular "I Am Loved" buttons now are available in five languages.

Worth remembering: "It is very hard to fight temptation. There is always the nagging thought—it may not come again."

It was St. John of the Cross who advised, "Take heed not to meddle in things which do not concern you, nor even allow them to pass through your mind, for perhaps you will not then be able to fulfill your own task."

Italy Plans Crucial Vote On Coalition

Rumor completed his coalition program Saturday after a week of talks with party leaders. It puts emphasis on university and pension reforms to ease the nation's student and labor unrest.

The accord was ratified Sunday by the tiny Republican party, third partner in the coalition. If the leadership councils of the two larger partners pass his program today, Rumor is expected to present his Cabinet choices to President Giuseppe Saragat Wednesday or Thursday.

Political observers said Rumor's government could be ready to face the necessary votes of confidence in parliament by next Saturday.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Some Tips On Defrosting

DEAR HELOISE: When I defrost my refrigerator, I use a plastic drain tray that goes on the sink under the rack for draining dishes. This almost covers the whole top shelf of the refrigerator.

Heloise

By putting a square plastic dishpan on the next shelf UNDER the end where the tray drains, there is absolutely no drip in the bottom of the refrigerator when the defrosting is finished.

It works!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a suit I bought on sale that I just love, except the buttons just didn't do a thing for it.

Today I cut some small pieces from the side where I had to take it in, then covered the buttons and sewed them on. Those two self-covered buttons make the suit look like it cost at least 10 dollars more!

Now, if the cleaners lose one, I have a spare. Or if I lose one when I'm wearing the suit, I can take out the extra one and pin it on with the little safety pin.

I'll bet a lot of gals have clothes which might look more expensive if the buttons were changed to self-covered ones. Why don't you take a look-see and try it?

When I am covering buttons for a suit or dress which I am making, I always cover an extra one in case of damage or loss.

DEANNA D.

DEAR HELOISE: When I was first married, both Tom and I were very fond of waffles and I looked forward to using my new waffle iron.

Well, my first waffle was actually not black. . .but it was so dark, hard and inedible that we both got quite a kick out of it.

I was surprised later that morning to walk into the kitchen and find a new decoration hanging over the door.

You guessed it!

It was quite a conversation piece for awhile.

MRS. THOMAS CASEY.

DEAR HELOISE: Yesterday I was wrapping a gift for my boss.

When he noticed my way of folding the cellophane roll tape together so that it was sticky on both sides, he suggested I tell you about it.

I simply cut off as much tape as needed and stick one end over the other. The result is a circle with the adhesive side outward. When this circle is flattened, both sides of the flattened tape are adhesive.

It's a marvelous means for attaching bows and ornaments on packages. Also for attaching gift tags without leaving any tell-tale sign of cellophane tape showing.

MARION MANGO.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I had a few biscuits leftover from breakfast and wanted to warm them for supper. But didn't want to heat up the oven for just those few. So I wrapped them tightly in a piece of foil, turned the lid upside down on the boiling potato pot (use a large pot so potatoes won't boil over) and put the biscuits in the upside down lid. Then put another lid over them to cover them completely.

Result?

FAITHFUL READER.

DEAR HELOISE: For those of you who have a lot of gummed labels to put on, or envelopes to seal, and you don't have a sponge, just rub them over an ice cube.

INA M. WALDROP.

This colume is written for you. . .the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

ANN LANDERS

Guns Trigger A Question

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on the letter about Agatha — the kooky sister-in-law who carried a gun in her purse and liked to scare people with it "for laughs." The question is, how long are people going to laugh about the easy availability of guns in this country?

The current estimate of guns now in the hands of the public ranges anywhere from 100 million to 300 million, depending on who's doing the estimating.

Very few states and municipalities require that a person have a license both to purchase and to possess a gun. Most states permit people to have pistols without a license. In some states one may have a pistol so long as he carries it openly.

Since 1900 more than 800,000 Americans have been killed by firearms, which is more than died in all our wars, going back to the Revolution. Crazy, isn't it? What can the average citizen do to get some sane and meaningful gun laws passed? — OUTRAGED.

Dear Outraged: That's a good question and one for which there seems to be no easy answer. The last Congress passed some gun legislation that was an improvement over the existing laws, but one gets the impression that Congress threw the angry constitutents the smallest possible bone in an attempt to quiet them for a while.

I suggest that we the people keep hammering away at Washington and our state and local representatives. Let them know we're not going to rest until we get sensible gun laws. For the zillionth time I repeat — we are NOT trying to restrict the lawful and legitimate activities of sportsmen and gun collectors; we simply want to make it illegal for anyone with the price of a gun to walk in and buy one — no questions asked.

What's Experience?

Dear Ann: I'd like to say a word or two to the young girl who propositioned her doctor because she wanted to learn about sex from an older man who "knows what he's doing."

I was disappointed in you for not setting her straight. Surely you know that simply because a man is older doesn't mean he knows what he's doing.

My husband is 52. We've been married 30 years. If he lives to be 100 he won't understand a woman's emotional needs or what role sex should play in married life. Don't tell me it's my fault for not teaching him. Did you ever try to teach table manners to a hog? Same thing.

Romantic love is more than technique. It is sensitivity, consideration, a desire to give as well as to receive.

One might assume that a man who has been married 30 years would benefit from 30 years of experience. Not true. He may have had the same experience 3,000 times. I think you ought to eat your words Ann Landers. — PHOENIX.

Dear Phoenix: Gulp. Gulp.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sources Say Egypt Wants Peace Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Egypt is reported willing to accept another U.N. force to help safeguard a peace settlement with Israel, diplomatic sources at the United Nations report.

The sources said Egypt's delegate to the United Nations, Mohamed Awad El Kony included the idea in a seven-point statement he gave to Chief U.S. delegate J.R. Wiggins Thursday.

Egypt accepted a U.N. force after the 1956 Suez invasion, and the force prevented Egypt from closing the Gulf of Aqaba, alongside the Sinai desert, to Israeli shipping.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser ordered the force out in 1967 and said Israel couldn't use the gulf. Shortly afterward, Israel drove the Egyptians out of Sinai in the six days' war.

The diplomatic sources said Egypt now would accept a new U.N. force to supervise Israel's withdrawal from the peninsula and remain at mutually agreed on places, including the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

El Kony's proposal came in response to a seven-point program U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was said to have outlined a month ago to Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad. The State Department denied the existence of such a program last week.

Meanwhile, the U.N special envoy for the Middle East, Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden, flew back to his headquarters in Cyprus after talks with Jordanian leaders in Amman.

Jordan Premier Bahjat Talhouni told his Parliament that Israel's attitude is preventing progress by Jarring's mission, and that Jordan and Egypt will go no further with Jarring until Israel expresses willingness to implement the U.N. Security Council resolution calling for Israel's withdrawal from the Arab territory it occupied in the 1967 war.

However, Talhouni and Foreign Minister Abdul Munein Rifai told President-elect Richard M. Nixon's special Middle East envoy, William W. Scranton, that Jordan still is willing to cooperate with Jarring.

Akron Hotel Hit By Blaze

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—About 100 occupants of the Hillcrest Hotel were evacuated safely Sunday when fire broke out in the lobby.

Officials speculated that the fire, which caused an estimated $25,000 damage, started in a Christmas tree set up in the lobby, but exact cause of the fire had not been determined.

The fine was confined to the lobby. Smoke damage was reported on some of the building's other eight floors.

The Zenobia Shrine Temple across the street from the hotel served as a temporary shelter when the hotel was evacuated. Some of the evacuees were transferred to other hotels, while others were permitted to return to their rooms after the fire was extinguished.

PIQUA, Ohio (AP) — Russell J. Kelly, 54, was killed at his home in nearby Pleasant Hill Sunday when the car he was working under slipped off a jack and crushed him.

Killed In Crash

WRIGHTSTOWN, N. J. (AP) —Robert E. Stall, 21, an Air Force man from Grand Rapids, Ohio, was killed Sunday when his car crashed into a utility pole off Route 528.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Some Tips On Defrosting

DEAR HELOISE: When I defrost my refrigerator, I use a plastic drain tray that goes on the sink under the rack for draining dishes. This almost covers the whole top shelf of the refrigerator.

Heloise

By putting a square plastic dishpan on the next shelf UNDER the end where the tray drains, there is absolutely no drip in the bottom of the refrigerator when the defrosting is finished.

It works!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a suit I bought on sale that I just love, except the buttons just didn't do a thing for it.

Today I cut some small pieces from the side where I had to take it in, then covered the buttons and sewed them on. Those two self-covered buttons make the suit look like it cost at least 10 dollars more!

I had an extra button, so I covered it and fastened it with a tiny safety pin inside the jacket where it wouldn't show.

Now, if the cleaners lose one, I have a spare. Or if I lose one when I'm wearing the suit, I can take out the extra one and pin it on with the little safety pin.

I'll bet a lot of gals have clothes which might look more expensive if the buttons were changed to self-covered ones. Why don't you take a look-see and try it?

When I am covering buttons for a suit or dress which I am making, I always cover an extra one in case of damage or loss.

DEANNA D.

DEAR HELOISE: When I was first married, both Tom and I were very fond of waffles and I looked forward to using my new waffle iron.

Well, my first waffle was actually not black. . .but it was so dark, hard and inedible that we both got quite a kick out of it.

I was surprised later that morning to walk into the kitchen and find a new decoration hanging over the door.

You guessed it!

It was quite a conversation piece for awhile.

MRS. THOMAS CASEY.

DEAR HELOISE: Yesterday I was wrapping a gift for my boss.

When he noticed my way of folding the cellophane roll tape together so that it was sticky on both sides, he suggested I tell you about it.

I simply cut off as much tape as needed and stick one end over the other. The result is a circle with the adhesive side outward. When this circle is flattened, both sides of the flattened tape are adhesive.

It's a marvelous means for attaching bows and ornaments on packages. Also for attaching gift tags without leaving any tell-tale sign of cellophane tape showing.

MARION MANGO.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I had a few biscuits leftover from breakfast and wanted to warm them for supper. But didn't want to heat up the oven for just those few. So I wrapped them tightly in a piece of foil, turned the lid upside down on the boiling potato pot (use a large pot so potatoes won't boil over) and put the biscuits in the upside down lid. Then put another lid over them to cover them completely.

Result?

FAITHFUL READER.

DEAR HELOISE: For those of you who have a lot of gummed labels to put on, or envelopes to seal, and you don't have a sponge, just rub them over an ice cube.

INA M. WALDROP.

This colume is written for you. . .the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

ANN LANDERS

Guns Trigger A Question

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to comment on the letter about Agatha — the kooky sister-in-law who carried a gun in her purse and liked to scare people with it "for laughs." The question is, how long are people going to laugh about the easy availability of guns in this country?

The current estimate of guns now in the hands of the public ranges anywhere from 100 million to 300 million, depending on who's doing the estimating.

Very few states and municipalities require that a person have a license both to purchase and to possess a gun. Most states permit people to have pistols without a license. In some states one may have a pistol so long as he carries it openly.

Since 1900 more than 800,000 Americans have been killed by firearms, which is more than died in all our wars, going back to the Revolution. Crazy, isn't it? What can the average citizen do to get some sane and meaningful gun laws passed? — OUTRAGED.

Dear Outraged: That's a good question and one for which there seems to be no easy answer. The last Congress passed some gun legislation that was an improvement over the existing laws, but one gets the impression that Congress threw the angry constitutents the smallest possible bone in an attempt to quiet them for a while.

I suggest that we the people keep hammering away at Washington and our state and local representatives. Let them know we're not going to rest until we get sensible gun laws. For the zillionth time I repeat — we are NOT trying to restrict the lawful and legitimate activities of sportsmen and gun collectors; we simply want to make it illegal for anyone with the price of a gun to walk in and buy one — no questions asked.

What's Experience?

Dear Ann: I'd like to say a word or two to the young girl who propositioned her doctor because she wanted to learn about sex from an older man who "knows what he's doing."

I was disappointed in you for not setting her straight. Surely you know that simply because a man is older doesn't mean he knows what he's doing.

My husband is 52. We've been married 30 years. If he lives to be 100 he won't understand a woman's emotional needs or what role sex should play in married life. Don't tell me it's my fault for not teaching him. Did you ever try to teach table manners to a hog? Same thing.

Romantic love is more than technique. It is sensitivity, consideration, a desire to give as well as to receive.

One might assume that a man who has been married 30 years would benefit from 30 years of experience. Not true. He may have had the same experience 3,000 times. I think you ought to eat your words Ann Landers. — PHOENIX.

Dear Phoenix: Gulp. Gulp.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sources Say Egypt Wants Peace Force

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Egypt is reported willing to accept another U.N. force to help safeguard a peace settlement with Israel, diplomatic sources at the United Nations report.

The sources said Egypt's delegate to the United Nations, Mohamed Awad El Kony included the idea in a seven-point statement he gave to Chief U.S. delegate J.R. Wiggins Thursday.

Egypt accepted a U.N. force after the 1956 Suez invasion, and the force prevented Egypt from closing the Gulf of Aqaba, alongside the Sinai desert, to Israeli shipping.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser ordered the force out in 1967 and said Israel couldn't use the gulf. Shortly afterward, Israel drove the Egyptians out of Sinai in the six days' war.

The diplomatic sources said Egypt now would accept a new U.N. force to supervise Israel's withdrawal from the peninsula and remain at mutually agreed on places, including the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

El Kony's proposal came in response to a seven-point program U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was said to have outlined a month ago to Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad. The State Department denied the existence of such a program last week.

Meanwhile, the U.N special envoy for the Middle East, Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden, flew back to his headquarters in Cyprus after talks with Jordanian leaders in Amman.

Jordan Premier Bahjat Talhouni told his Parliament that Israel's attitude is preventing progress by Jarring's mission, and that Jordan and Egypt will go no further with Jarring until Israel expresses willingness to implement the U.N. Security Council resolution calling for Israel's withdrawal from the Arab territory it occupied in the 1967 war.

However, Talhouni and Foreign Minister Abdul Munein Rifai told President-elect Richard M. Nixon's special Middle East envoy, William W. Scranton, that Jordan still is willing to cooperate with Jarring.

Akron Hotel Hit By Blaze

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—About 100 occupants of the Hillcrest Hotel were evacuated safely Sunday when fire broke out in the lobby.

Officials speculated that the fire, which caused an estimated $25,000 damage, started in a Christmas tree set up in the lobby, but exact cause of the fire had not been determined.

The fine was confined to the lobby. Smoke damage was reported on some of the building's other eight floors.

The Zenobia Shrine Temple across the street from the hotel served as a temporary shelter when the hotel was evacuated. Some of the evacuees were transferred to other hotels, while others were permitted to return to their rooms after the fire was extinguished.

Crushed By Car

PIQUA, Ohio (AP) — Russell J. Kelly, 54, was killed at his home in nearby Pleasant Hill Sunday when the car he was working under slipped off a jack and crushed him.

Killed In Crash

Junior Editors Quiz on MUSKRATS

QUESTION: What is the difference between a muskrat and a water rat?

* * * *

ANSWER: Muskrats are familiar to us for two reasons. First, they are found in most areas of the United States. (see small map). Second, because of their need for protection while swimming so much of the time underwater, they have very thick fur — long shiny hairs on top with soft, silky underfur. The animals are frequently trapped for their fur. The long hairs are removed and the underfur dyed. Our picture shows the dome-shaped houses muskrats build of sticks and plant stalks, stuck together with mud. Their food consists mostly of the leaves, stems and roots of water plants. The Florida water rat looks something like a small muskrat, but its tail is different, being very long and round in shape. The muskrat's tail is slightly flattened in an up and down direction. These water rats are found only in Florida and Georgia. They make round nests and like to swim, living on swamp vegetation in much the way the muskrat does. They are too small to be trapped for their fur.

(Deborah Dunay of Torrington, Conn., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
